

SHED, Youth Council form building panel

By Neil Fater

A new building committee consisting of members of the Youth Council and the Shawsheen Extended Day and Kid's Club programs met for the first time last night, Wednesday, to continue discussing the possibility of the two groups sharing a building at Recreation Park.

Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator, expected the committee to review available Recreation Park expansion plans, probably "work on a mutual vision and definitely get some direction into this whole idea" of a shared facility, he said.

"I would imagine they'll be meeting on a weekly basis to find out if it (sharing a building) is workable," said Mr. Fahey.

The 10-member committee is made up of two representatives from SHED; four representatives from the Youth Council; and four representatives from the Andover

Parents to receive letters Friday about two leveled 6th-grade math classes

By Neil Fater

Letters go out tomorrow, Friday, telling parents of sixth-grade students which of two leveled math classes their children will be enrolled in next term.

A majority of the School Committee elected Tuesday night to stand behind the system's decision to begin the new ability grouped classes Nov. 14, when the second term begins.

School Committee to begin discussion relating to superintendent search Oct. 25, 7:30 p.m.

However, phone calls during the week and parents' comments at Tuesday's committee meeting left Mary Lyman and Bill Huston, committee members, questioning if the schools should put off expanding ability grouping to the sixth grade until at least Joe Sweeney plays tennis at the Andover High courts.

His gauge never reads empty Meet unique tennis instructor Joe Sweeney

By Neil Fater

When he graduated from Salem State College as a member of the sailing, diving and tennis teams, Joe Sweeney was the only three-sport athlete in his class.

Today, the 79-year-old chuckles over the idea that he was once a college-caliber athlete, saying that the "word athlete is used very loosely." He laughs mostly because when he graduated in 1990 he was 75 years old.

"I was the oddball on the campus. I was taken as the instructor, I don't know how many times," said Mr. Sweeney, who lives on Cuba Street. "I was treated as the oddball for three or four days, then they got used to me. I never thought I'd enjoy sitting in a class but I did."

Today, Mr. Sweeney may be the only 79-year-old who still has his college car. It is a 1981 Volkswagen Rabbit that runs on diesel fuel and it is filled with the tennis equipment he needs to teach his classes.

In some ways, Mr. Sweeney is like his Rabbit. The car has Expansion projects frame middle schools' overcrowding dilemma

By Neil Fater

Expansion projects aimed at easing overcrowding at the elementary and high-school levels beg a very simple question.

What about the middle schools?

That question was figuratively shouted when the administration released new enrollment projections Tuesday night.

Beginning next school year, the number of students in the middle schools will actually outnumber the number of students at Andover High School, a statistic officials say will remain until the 1998-1999 school year.

Board considers appointing zoning bylaw committee

Town watchdogs challenge participants' authority

By Don Staruk

A group of citizens Monday night challenged the authority of a task force that is pushing for a total re-write of the town's zoning bylaw. The group also questioned the legality and propriety of the town manager's role in sanctioning creation of the task force.

After a lengthy discussion, selectmen put off until their next meeting, on Monday, Nov. 7, a decision on whether to establish a committee to re-write the bylaw. If at that time they choose to create such a com-

Al French trekked the 200-mile Bay Circuit Trail

Al French, of 17 Moreland Ave., recently completed the first circumnavigation of the Bay Circuit Trail entirely on foot.

The Bay Circuit Trail is a roughly 200-mile corridor linking numerous conservation areas with walking, biking and hiking trails from Duxbury to Plum Island in Newbury.

"I walked about 195," Mr. French said this week.

The trail is not completed and not all of it is open to the public yet. Mr. French, owner of Moor and Mountain outfitters in Dundee Park, is chairman of the Bay Circuit Alliance Inc., the coalition of organizations that are working to complete the trail and greenway.

He began his trek in Duxbury on Sept. 29 and finished in Newbury Monday, Oct. 10. He carried a full backpack with a tent and camped out most nights. One of the nicest campsites was Walpole Town Forest, he said. There his wife, Mary French, joined him for some camping.

"Mary joined me for three days and three nights."

He was accompanied on many sections of trail by local hikers who served as his guides. Some days he had groups of six to eight people accompanying him.

"The largest was my last day. We had 19 people walking from Rowley to Plum Island," Mr. French said.

Liz Tentarelli, head of the Andover Trails Committee, joined him for a stretch through Andover.

"But mostly I was by myself," he said.

One of those times he managed to get very lost in a swamp in Ashland.

He had only one night of rain, (Continued on page 10)

Stolen: Pumpkins and a little bit of faith

By Don Staruk

A new resident received a rude welcome to town last week.

"I'm sitting here all bummed out because all my beautiful pumpkins were taken during the evening," Ruth Mills, of 47 Tewksbury St., said Tuesday morning, Oct. 11.

Ms. Mills and her family moved here from Roslindale a few months ago and were looking forward to being able to put out some pumpkins without fear that they'd be stolen, as was the case in Roslindale, she said.

But Monday night, all four pumpkins, including one she and her son just brought back from New Hampshire Sunday, were taken.

"One of these pumpkins weighed 40 pounds, so it had to be a car that took them," she said.

The pumpkins cost her about $12, but it wasn't just the money that was lost, Ms. Mills said. Now she knows that, even in Andover, she has to be careful, she said.

Ms. Mills was the first resident to report the theft of pumpkins this year. More pumpkin thefts occurred in the Boston Road area last Friday and, with Halloween just a little more than two weeks away, these incidents probably won't be the last.

Trick-or-treating set for Oct. 31, 5:30-7

The Board of Selectmen have set Andover's trick-or-treating time to run Monday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Route 28 traffic slow until December

Traffic on Route 28 is expected to be slowed until early December in order to put in a new utility culvert, a concrete, pipe-like structure, under the highway at Phillips Academy.

The traffic plan has been approved by the police department, but the school is waiting for approval from the Massachusetts highway department. If state authorities approve the plan, the work will begin in the south-bound lane of Route 28 between School and Phillips streets (between Park House and Peabody Museum), moving two-way traffic into the northbound lane. This work will continue for two to three weeks. The work then switches to the northbound lane and traffic in both directions will use the south-bound lane for two to three weeks.

The project is necessary in order to upgrade the steam distribution system in buildings on the campus, said Peter D'Arrigo, capital project manager at PA. "We're also doing this work to make it easier to service the steam pipe in the future. If it ever breaks or leaks, we won't need to dig a hole in the highway to fix it."

A second construction project, renovating the Elson Arts Center on Chapel Avenue, began this week. The project includes building a small addition to the center that connects to George Washington Hall. This project involves little or no traffic restriction, said Mr. D'Arrigo, except that needed to facilitate the delivery of equipment and materials. The work will continue until next summer.

Flu shots available

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health and Andover Board of Health urge all residents over 60 years to be immunized against flu at a free clinic Thursday, Oct. 27, at the Doherty School cafeteria from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Pre-registration forms are available at the Senior Center, Memorial Hall Library, health department, fire and police stations and other town locations. Although pre-registration is not mandatory, bringing the filled-out form to the clinic site will help eliminate waiting time.

Medicare cards or numbers are not required for immunization this year. Simply fill in your name and address, sign the form and bring it with you.

All participants will enter the Doherty School via the rear doors of the cafeteria to eliminate crowding in the corridors. No entrance will be allowed at the front or front side door.

Bacterial pneumonia immunization will also be offered at the clinic. The pneumonia shot will be given by appointment only. To make an appointment, call the health department at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

There is a fee of $5 for the pneumonia vaccine, which is reimbursable by Medicare if the senior client has Medicare B. It is not necessary to be re-vaccinated for pneumonia if you have received this shot within the past six years. It is recommended for adults 65 years and older. Any questions regarding the clinical aspects of these vaccines should be directed to a person's physician.

League to talk about Ed Reform Act

The League of Women Voters of Andover/North Andover will hold two meetings next week to discuss the implications of the Education Reform Act: Tuesday, Oct. 25, noon, at Barbara Somers' home, 10 Nutmeg Lane, and Thursday, Oct. 27, 7:30 p.m., at Cynthia Hollenbeck's home, 275 Highland Ave.

The speakers are Dick Neal, Andover's acting superintendent, and School Committeewoman Mary Lyman. Speakers from North Andover are Superintendent George Blaisdell, Assistant Superintendent Ron Binkney and School Committeewoman Diane Huster.

Among the subjects for discussion are the benefits of the recent act, concerns about curriculum, effects on teacher morale, financial impact and implications for special-needs students.

The meetings are open to the public. For more information call Jackie Kovacs, membership chairman, at 470-3466.

Question 4: A question of term limits and ballot access

By Neil Fater

In the 1990s, 18 of the 24 states that allow citizen petitions have imposed some sort of term limit. Massachusetts is one of six states that has not.

Question 4 on the Nov. 8 ballot may allow citizens to change that. It seeks to indirectly impose term limits by restricting the number of consecutive terms an official's name can be placed on the ballot.

If Question 4 is approved, long-standing officials can still be elected by a gargantuan write-in campaign. However, candidates elected through the write-in process would work without a salary and without other benefits.

Supporters of Question 4, including Dennis Teves, a founder of Andover's Citizens Against Tax and Spend (CATS), say that a "yes" vote on Question 4 will provide voters with better ballot choices.

But Susan Jenkins, president of Andover/North Andover League of Women Voters, charges that Question 4 is an illegal maneuver that is more about "ballot access denial" than term limits and choices.

"We have the obligation to vote and if we are unhappy with someone we have the responsibility to (remove them) through a vote," said Ms. Jenkins.

"Question 4 is a cynical attempt to circumvent the constitutional amendment process," she said. "It limits the ability of a certain class of citizens ... to have their name appear on the ballot."

The state LWV has taken a stand against this ballot question.

The Massachusetts Constitution states that all qualified inhabitants have an equal right to be eligible for public office. Because passage of Question 4 will indirectly impose term limits, the final outcome of this ballot question will likely be decided in the state courts.

However, proponents of term limits point to the high return rate of incumbents - 90 percent of state representatives and 80 percent of state senators were returned in 1990 - as proof of the need for imposing limits.

Mr. Teves said that barring campaign reform, term limits are the only way to overcome the power of incumbency and the influential lobbyists who fund election campaigns.

"I hate to see term limits because I hate to see someone that I voted for and is doing a good job" not be allowed on the ballot, said Mr. Teves. "But, on the other hand, the only way to get rid of true politicians is through term limits."

"As a matter of fact, I'd like to see term limits in Andover," he said. "I find it hard to believe that in a town of 30,000 people, we have to appoint the same people over and over again."

Although passage of Question 4 will not affect town politics, it would limit U.S. senators to two consecutive six-year terms and all other state elected officials to consecutive terms equaling eight years.

Selectmen roundup Phone calls, train whistles, more

Call me...er...them

Selectmen Monday night started what may become a regular part of their meetings, a time set aside for residents to call them on the phone.

Because they are not set up with any equipment to screen calls, Selectman James Barenboim answered the phone, listened to the caller's question or comment, then reiterated it for the board and audience.

The first call Monday night was from Johnny Garabedian, a resident and honorary firefighter who often rides a fire truck in town parades. Mr. Garabedian called to tell selectmen what a good job they do.

Mr. Barenboim answered the second call but hung up rather quickly and appeared embarrassed. He wouldn't say exactly what the caller said, but said it was a "complimentary" call, "but I won't repeat what they said."

One caller asked the board to project what the town's residential tax rate would be five years from now. The caller said it was roughly $10 per $1,000 five years ago, is roughly $15 now and wondered what it might be in five years. Tony Torrisi, finance and budget director, said there are too many variables to accurately make such a prediction. Chairman Gerald Silverman said the tax classification task force, created last year to examine the town's tax-setting policy, is going to be projecting the town's tax rates out to the year 2000, and suggested the caller get in touch with one of the members of that group.

Another caller asked if the town planned to pave Reservation Road. Mr. Stapczynski said that he wasn't sure, but that the town did receive notification that it will get $1 million in Chapter 90 highway funds for road construction for each of the next two years, which is double last year's allotment.

He also said he will present his Capital Improvement Program, designating priority capital-spending projects for the town, to selectmen for their review by Friday. But he did not know the answer to the question and said he would get back to the board with that information.

Another caller thanked members of the Zoning Bylaw Task Force, subject of an earlier discussion at the meeting, for donating their time to the town. [See pages 1 and 28 for that story.]

Resident asks for special town meeting for train whistles

Leo Doherty, of 11 Buxton Court, asked selectmen to schedule a special town meeting to vote to petition the state Legislature to approve a new state law barring trains from blowing whistles in Andover.

Mr. Doherty and other town residents have for more than two years been complaining about train whistles being blown louder and with greater frequency than in the past. Despite petitions to the Department of Public Utilities and the railroad companies, the problems are as bad today as ever, Mr. Doherty said.

Last month the Legislature signed a new law banning whistles in the town of Acton, where residents had complained of similar problems for years. Mr. Doherty now wants by Richard D. Hoggood, D.M.D.

Your Dental HEALTH

SCREENING FOR ORAL CANCER

With FDA approval of a dye for cancer screening called toluidine blue, dentists may be able to catch oral cancer in its early stages. Although oral cancer affects 35,000 Americans each year, its mere 51 percent five-year survival rate ranks it among the more deadly forms of the disease. This fact makes early detection an important element in the successful treatment of oral cancer. Because the screening process involving toluidine blue is so sensitive that it picks up such abnormalities as benign ulcers and fever blisters, it is not for everybody. Only those in high risk categories for oral cancer, such as smokers and heavy drinkers, should consider it. The test is sensitive enough to produce false positive results in some 30 percent of cases. Carefully performed home dental hygiene can be the deciding factor in keeping your mouth and teeth healthy. And to increase the public's awareness of the importance of preventive oral health care and the dental hygienist's role as the preventive professional, we hope you'll celebrate October as National Dental Hygiene Month with us here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 (with easy access off Rt 93). We're confident you'll actually enjoy receiving dental care from caring, compassionate people. Hrs. Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment (475-2431).

P.S. Patients with high risk factors for oral cancer should be suspicious of ulcerated areas about the mouth and lips.

the town to ask the Legislature and the governor to approve similar legislation for Andover, and he doesn't want to wait until the annual town meeting in April.

"We've been advised that the governor and Legislature might be warm to this now, and might not be six months from now," he said Tuesday night.

Federal officials may seek to repeal the Acton law, he said, because they believe it is a bad precedent. If that happens, it may cool interest in a new law being proposed, Mr. Doherty said.

The petition for the law must originate with a town meeting request, then be filed in the Legislature by one of the town's legislative representatives.

Selectmen can call a special town meeting, or a citizen can present a petition with 200 signatures to call a town meeting, in which case selectmen's approval is not needed. Selectmen said they will discuss the request for a special town meeting at their next meeting, on Monday, Nov. 7.

Mr. Doherty said he would like to proceed with the support and blessing of the Board of Selectmen, but that he will likely obtain the 200 signatures required prior to Nov. 7, and be prepared to move forward with the special town meeting with or without the board's approval.

Town activist questions town office's 20-cents-a-copy policy

Mary Carbone, of 3 Cyr Circle, complained to selectmen that a town office's policy to charge 20 cents a page for copies is being applied inconsistently, and that it should either be applied across the board for everyone or not at all.

Mr. Silverman said the policy is to charge 20 cents for copies of all documents, and that more can be charged for large documents if a significant amount of a staff person's time is needed to complete the job. That policy will remain, Mr. Silverman said.

"We (taxpayers) are the employers," Ms. Carbone said.

She said there should be no fee unless multiple copies were being requested.

Field of Dreams public meeting

Selectmen will host a meeting on the Recreation Park/Pomps Pond construction project on Monday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the South School cafeteria. All town residents and especially local area residents are welcome and encouraged to attend.

The purpose of the meeting is to allow residents to hear the plans for the construction of the new Field of Dreams Youth Center at Rec Park as well as the planned locations of various new ball fields and sports courts in the park area.

Architects for the project will make a presentation regarding current proposals for the site, and residents will be encouraged to ask questions about the proposals and give their feedback to town officials.

AA rating

Mr. Stapczynski told selectmen that Moody's Investment Services confirmed the Town's AA bond rating this week.

"So we're in good shape for another year," Mr. Stapczynski said.

Cable seeks camera operator

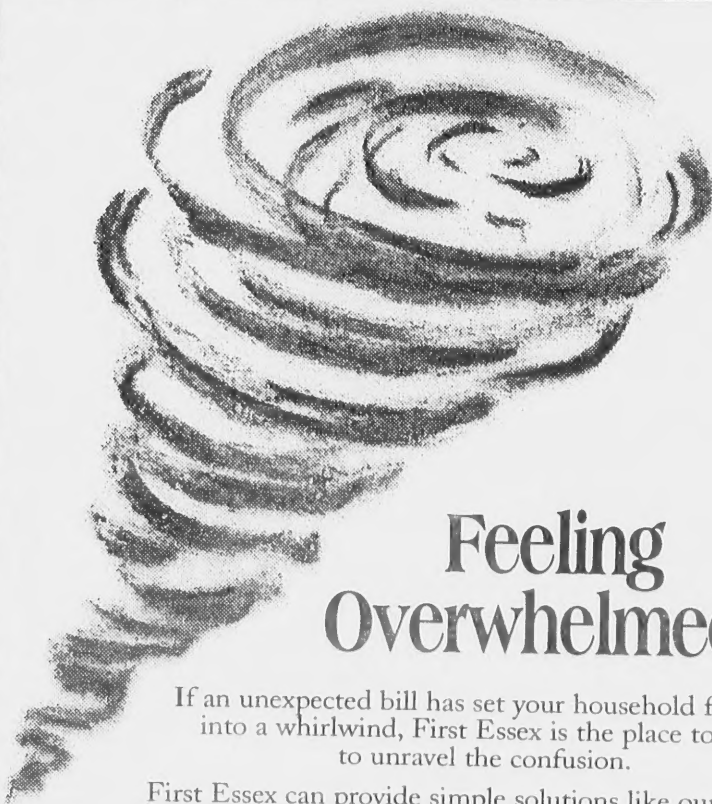

TCI Cablevision, Andover's cable television provider, is looking for a few good people interested in a job as a cable television camera operator. Citizens and selectmen two weeks ago expressed concern that too many cable broadcasts of selectmen meetings have been canceled lately for lack of someone to operate the camera. TCI cable responded this week with an offer to host a meeting at which persons interested in becoming camera operators can learn what is involved. Camera operators are paid $25 for each meeting they work, and slightly more for meetings that run late.

The informational meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the TCI facility at Andover High School.

This is also an opportunity for anyone interested in discussing programming concerns, or how to get coverage for events, with a TCI representative.

Don Staruk wrote the selectmen's roundup stories.

Firefighter, Richard Hartman, named to FEMA task force

Richard J. Hartman, a lieutenant in the Andover Fire Department, has been selected for a position on the Beverly (MA-01) Task Force of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Urban Search and Rescue Program. The Beverly Task Force is one of 25 national teams and the only team based in New England. Lt. Hartman has accepted this position by signing a Memorandum of Understanding with FEMA.

FEMA initiated the Urban Search and Rescue program in 1990 as a direct result of the Loma Prieta earthquake. The program has created 25 teams of multi-disciplined technical specialists capable of rapid response to an earthquake or other catastrophic disaster. These teams implement search and rescue procedures, provide emergency medical care to trapped and injured victims and help to mitigate the effects of the disaster on citizens. The teams may be deployed as part of a Presidential Disaster Declaration.

The Andover Fire Department concurs with Lt. Hartman's commitment to this program and views this commitment the same as it does for employees who are in the Armed Forces Reserve programs.

Michelle Parent joins DeWolfe New England

DeWolfe New England recently announced the affiliation of Michelle Parent with its Andover real estate sales office. She earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration with a concentration in marketing and an emphasis in accounting at the University of Massachusetts at Lowell.

Prior to joining the local DeWolfe, Ms. Parent worked in the company's Lexington corporate office in marketing operations.

"We are pleased that Michelle will bring her considerable marketing ability to Andover as a full-time real estate sales associate," said Nancy Collins, manager of the Andover office. "We are confident Michelle's clients will appreciate her background."

Ms. Parent and her family are lifelong residents of the Merrimack Valley.

J.B. Doherty attends conference

Joseph Doherty of J.B. Doherty Associates Inc. met with real estate professionals representing the employee relocation field at the annual conference of Chicago-based RELO/The International Relocation Network held recently in New Orleans.

Mr. Doherty was among several hundred real estate professionals from across the country who met to discuss the latest trends in the area of real estate. "Right now there are some important developments taking place in the real estate and relocation field," Mr. Doherty said. "Issues such as buyer brokerage, limits on transferee tax deductions, enhanced computer technology and tighter corporate relocation budgets will all have an impact on the way real estate transactions are conducted."

"I chose to attend the seminars and training sessions that would enable J.B. Doherty Associates to address the changing needs of buyers and sellers in the Andover area."

The RELO annual conference also provided Mr. Doherty with the opportunity to meet with representatives from Maenner Relocation Inc., a third-party relocation company that provides home-buying and home-selling services to corporate transferees. A joint-venture agreement between Maenner and RELO. J.B. Doherty Associates has expanded the services offered to corporations by its company.

The Chicago-based RELO network has nearly 800 members and 3,000 member offices nationwide. Its members sold $64.3 billion in residential real estate last year.

Homebuyers workshop is free

Interate National Mortgage Corporation will sponsor a free homebuyers workshop Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Andover Marriott, 123 Old River Road.

Some of the topics covered by a panel of experts include the various low money down and government home mortgage programs available, the purchase and sale contract and the importance of legal counsel when purchasing a home and what you should look for in a home and how to spot a great deal.

For reservations, call 688-2480.

Robin Brownson is loan officer

Capital Mortgage, located in Boston, recently announced the appointment of Robin Brownson of Andover as loan officer. Ms. Brownson will be responsible for assisting clients with residential and commercial real estate loans.

Ms. Brownson is a graduate of West Virginia University. She worked several years in broadcast journalism before entering the field of sales management.

She and her husband, who owns Brownson Insurance Agency in Wakefield, have a 2-year-old daughter.

"Capital Mortgage is an exciting firm to work for because of its rapid growth and remarkable flexibility Cap," said Ms. Brownson. "We have our own in-house underwriting, which gives us tremendous control over structuring loans to meet client's individual needs."

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

SETTLING SITUATIONS

Besides choosing the type and dollar amount of a life insurance policy, policyholders must also determine the settlement option. This outlines the manner in which the policy's proceeds will be distributed to beneficiaries. To meet an immediate need for the proceeds after death, the money may be distributed in a "lump sum." By arranging for the insurance company to hold the proceeds, the "interest only" option provides for interest to be paid to beneficiaries over their lifetimes or for a specific term. The principal is protected until it is needed. The "fixed amount" options call for payments in equal installments until interest and principal are gone. The "fixed period" bases installments on a specified term. The "lifetime income" option pays regular installments for the life of its recipient(s). With access to the sorts of first rate investment and money management techniques available to people through their financial consultant, receiving the death benefit as a lump sum and investing it so as to achieve their financial goals is usually the right course of action. In this way, you the client retain control of the funds. For further information on such matters, please give us a call today.

At BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, we offer financial services in the areas of investments, pension and retirement, life insurance and estate planning, group benefits, and fee-based financial planning. If you have any questions or would like to schedule an appointment, please call us at 475-9212. Our office here in Andover is located at 10 Essex Street. We also have an office at 100 N. Washington Street in Boston (617) 523-4500. I am a Chartered Financial Consultant, and written and verbal references are available upon request.

Carol A. Dehne attends Suzuki workshop

Andover resident Carol A. Dehne recently attended a week-long Teacher Training Institute, sponsored by the Suzuki Association of the Americas, on the campus of Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa. The institute attracted piano instructors for advanced training in teaching the Suzuki method of piano.

Ms. Dehne has 20 years teaching experience, including four years using the Suzuki method, in schools and studios in New Jersey, Virginia and Minnesota. She received a bachelor of music degree from Boston University and an MA degree from Rutgers University.

Ms. Dehne has performed chamber music and accompanied vocal groups. Several of her original compositions have been performed by chamber orchestras throughout the United States and Europe.

Ms. Dehne is a member of the Music Teachers National Association, Boston alumni chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon professional music fraternity and Minnesota Composers Forum.

Teens, SHED work on center

Church Council Enterprise Project Team (ACCEPT), the fundraising group responsible for the South Church steeple project.

ACCEPT members hope to facilitate negotiation, raise money for youth projects and attract members from other religious groups in town, said Art Boni, an ACCEPT representative on the building committee.

The new building committee was an outgrowth of last Thursday's breakfast involving SHED and Youth Council representatives, hosted by Selectman Larry Larsen.

Representatives from the Youth Council and SHED have not yet agreed to share a building at Recreation Park and did not come to terms for such an agreement at the breakfast.

"I think it's very good for us to get together and reassure ourselves that we want the same things out of the project. But now we have to get physically working," said Todd Buonopane, Youth Council member.

Some Youth Council members said they want to be sure the existence of the SHED program will not keep older students away from the center. Teen-agers must be able to choose whether they interact with the younger children involved in the SHED and Kid's Club programs, said Mr. Buonopane.

"We also, as the Youth Council, don't want either group to have to compromise at all, because we each have strong objectives. I think both groups are concerned about losing control of the building," said Mr.

Buonopane. "SHED doesn't want to be a tenant."

SHED representatives said if SHED is going to provide funding for the center, its programs should have access to space there for many years.

The target date for the youth center is 1996, in time for the town's 350th anniversary celebrations.

"It seems like a realistic time line, but certainly an aggressive one. Basically, it's a time to shoot for. You need to pick a goal and go for it," said Mr. Boni.

Town officials have scheduled a public meeting at South School, Monday, Oct. 24, to hear residents' questions and comments regarding the entire Recreation Park Field of Dreams project.

The building committee plans to meet Saturday, Oct. 29, time and place to be determined.

"One of the main purposes of my doing that was to make contact with citizen groups," in areas where local committees, like the Andover Trails Committee, don't yet exist.

It is those local committees that form the core of support needed for completing the trail, Mr. French said.

Understanding Chiropractic
 by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.
 TMJ DISORDER

The chiropractor's concern extends beyond the joints of the spine and the pain they might engender when they do not function properly. The temporomandibular, or jaw, joint (TMJ) is one of the loosest and most flexible in the body. Its flexibility enables us to take large bites of food and chew thoroughly with great force. The TMJ consists of a rounded protrusion (condyle) at each end of the mandible (lower jaw) which fits into a rounded hollow in the temporal bone when the jaw is closed. Instead of merely rotating when the jaw opens, each condyle actually moves forward (translates) to afford an even greater widening of the mouth. Add to this unique motion a disc, ligaments, nerves, and chewing muscles and the stage is set for the potential problems and pain known as TMJ disorder.

This condition is more common than once believed. If you are considering surgery or medication, take a look at our natural and safe alternative, chiropractic. For more information or an appointment, please call DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042. Our personal concern is your health, therefore we only accept those patients we sincerely feel we can help. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. The harmful postural habit of positioning the head forward often contributes to TMJ disorders.

COMFORT

The winter was long and hard and our son Alex had a sore throat it seemed all through the season. At our last visit to the pediatrician, the doctor suggested a tonsillectomy. She made arrangements for the Day Surgery team at Lawrence General to do the procedure. Off we went on a bright and sunny Tuesday morning in early spring. The staff made Alex feel special. They understood that while this might be one of hundreds of tonsillectomies they'd do this year.

it was the only one our son was going to have. And the fact that he'd be in and out in one day made it so much easier on him and on us.

RESPECT

The doctors and nurses explained everything to us. I was especially impressed with the way they spoke directly to Alex. Being treated that way really seemed to calm him. But what mattered most was the way they treated our family. They used a smile as well as they used their high-tech surgical equipment, and it sure worked for us.

SCHOOLTALK

Parents and guardians of Andover High School students are invited to Parents' Night tonight, Thursday, Oct. 20, beginning at 7.

Parents will follow their child's schedule and meet with teachers in abbreviated 10-minute classes. Teachers will describe their courses and expectations concerning homework, tests and grading procedures.

The evening will run on a bell schedule. Parents are asked to arrive in their child's homeroom no later than 7 p.m. to obtain a class schedule.

Check with your child for the homeroom number and their homeroom teacher's name. Homeroom teachers will review the format for the evening before parents continue to period one.

"Public Access Information Night," a look behind the scenes of television production by Andover residents, will be held in the TCI Cablevision studio at Andover High School Tuesday, Oct. 25, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Admission is free and refreshments will be served. Call 691-0035 to RSVP.

High school students interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships, who have a grade-point average of "B" or better and are U.S. citizens, should request applications (by Dec. 15) from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, P.O. Box 5012, Lake Forest, Ill. 60045-5012.

Students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state, zip code, approximate grade-point average and year of graduation. All requests for applications will be fulfilled on or about Jan. 13. One hundred and fifty winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and some consideration for financial need. A total of $150,000 will be awarded.

The Mother Connection will hold an informal open house tonight, Thursday, Oct. 20, from 7:30 to 9 downstairs at the Unitarian Universalist Church on Locke Street. The group offers playgroups, a babysitting co-op, field trips, toy library, support groups and personal interest groups.

The trustees of Memorial Hall Library presented $1,000 scholarship awards each to Gail Rollins, Eli Wilkie and Amy Fenton, pages at the library.

The trustees annually provide scholarships to graduating seniors who have worked at the library for at least 18 months, maintained a B average and demonstrated a dedication to their work at the library.

Ms. Rollins has the distinction of being the second in her family to work as a page in the Children's Room - and the second to receive the trustees' scholarship. She has been accepted into the honors program at University of Massachusetts, where she will study premed, archaeology, or both.

Mr. Wilkie worked in the Children's Room as well as assisted in the family business of historic restoration work. An avid enthusiast of skateboarding, snowboarding and recycling, he plans to major in chemical engineering at the University of Massachusetts.

Ms. Fenton was an adult-circulation page, an avid varsity tennis player, and was copy-editor of the yearbook. She is pursuing a major in English with a double minor in psychology at Mount Holyoke College.

Benjamin Fine, son of Michael and Barbara Fine of Andover, has been selected as the fund-raising chairman of the Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity at Lynchburg College, a private college in Virginia, enrolling 2,150 students in professional, liberal arts and graduate studies.

The junior marketing major is a 1991 graduate of the Forman School.

Local students were awarded college tuition-assistance scholarships by the Francis Ouimet Scholarship Fund. The following Ouimet Scholars from Andover are: R. Kevin Dennehy Jr., Indian Ridge Country Club, class of 1995 at Assumption College; Thomas Torrisi, Indian Ridge Country Club, class of 1996 at Kenyon College; and Steven Mollineaux, Rolling Green Golf Course, class of 1995 at UMass Amherst.

The awards are part of a record $400,000 the Ouimet Fund is granting to 233 students in 1994-95. Candidates for the Ouimet Scholarship must have completed three "seasons of service to golf" at a Massachusetts golf course as caddies or helpers in a pro shop or in course operations.

The Francis Ouimet Scholarship Fund was founded in 1949 in honor of golfer Francis Ouimet. The Ouimet Award is a competitive, need-based undergraduate scholarship. This year's Ouimet Scholars represent 104 Massachusetts golf clubs and nine colleges and universities.

Elizabeth Snyder of 7 Crestwood Drive, a junior at the University of Vermont, is enrolled in the fall term of Semester at Sea.

The university community aboard the S.S. Universe will visit Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, Vietnam, India, Egypt, Israel, Ukraine, Turkey and Morocco. The term began with the sailing from Vancouver, British Columbia on Sept. 14 and will end in Port Everglades, Fla., on Dec. 23. The 423 students on board represent 172 colleges and universities from across the country and abroad.

Ms. Snyder is the daughter of Robert and Joanne Snyder.

Paintings and artwork by students and faculty at Montserrat College of Art's pre-college program this summer have been chosen to be displayed at the Lahey Clinic's new location at the Northshore Mall in Peabody.

The exhibit on the third floor of the newly renovated facility will include work by Fiorella Valdesolo of Andover.

The Lahey Clinic will award a $500 scholarship, by random drawing, to one of the students who allowed their work to be part of the exhibit. Call Montserrat College of Art at 922-8222.

Sarah Witham of Andover, a member of the class of 1997 at Wheaton College, has been named a presidential scholar in recognition of outstanding academic achievement. She is the daughter of Tom and Sue Witham.

Students must maintain a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.75 to be named a Presidential Scholar. In all, 39 students were accorded the honor this year during the college's opening convocation.

Two Andover High School seniors, Alan Arstenstein, son of Charlotte and Richard Arstenstein, and Sean Croteau, son of Robert and Justine Croteau, have been selected as winners in the University of Massachusetts Amherst's Chancellor's Talent Award Program competition for 1995. These students have demonstrated high academic achievement in high school and on standardized tests.

Chancellor Talent award-winners are offered $5,000 per year for four years if they enroll in the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

Eric Behling, a Dartmouth College junior, has been cited for outstanding work in a course in Greek and Roman studies during the summer term. He is the son of H.H. and Margaret Behling.

Five Andover first-year students at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, began their college experience by sharing the Colby Outdoor Orientation Trip at the beginning of September with other incoming students and returning upperclassmen.

Cameron W. Frothingham, son of David and Patricia Frothingham, participated in a four-day canoeing, camping and mountain-climbing trip on Flagstaff Lake and the Bigelow range in Maine's western mountains.

Deborah A. Shea and Danielle L. Sadler took a four-day canoe camping trip in the Moosehead Lake region of northern Maine. Ms. Shea is the daughter of Philip R. and Janet Shea. Ms. Sadler is the daughter of Michael and Christine Sadler.

Kevin W. O'Brien, son of William and Elizabeth O'Brien, took a four-day backpacking and hiking trip in White Mountains National Park in New Hampshire.

Candace J. Kim, daughter of Julie and Warren Kim, participated in a four-day camping and fishing trip in the Belgrade chain of lakes in central Maine.

Jennifer Huang, daughter of Ting and Lillian Huang of Andover, has enrolled as a first-year student in Medill School of Jour-

League of Women Voters, Townwide PTO promote community

For the League of Women Voters of Andover/North Andover, September marked the beginning of Know Your Town year. "It is our hope that during the coming months we can promote active citizenship and nurture the development of a heightened sense of community here in Andover," organizers said.

As a way of supporting greater school-community connections, the LWV and the Townwide PTO propose to sponsor a story-sharing day in the schools during National Education Week, Nov. 14-18. The groups are asking townspeople of all generations to volunteer an hour during this week to visit an elementary or middle school classroom to share a real-life story, read a favorite

AHS marching band captures silver medal

The Andover High School marching band brought home a silver medal from the NESBA competition hosted by Beverly and Reading last Sunday. The 30 musicians, six color guards and one drum major took second place with 75.8 points in the Division II competition, which included five other bands.

Kate O'Donnell earned the award for best drum major.

Mark Napierkowski, band director, said, "For our second competition, we improved by 15 points and moved up from the bronze category to the silver category. That's a tribute to the hard work everyone put in the past two weeks."

The band presented its expanded opening format for the first time. Ms. O'Donnell faced the audience and set the tone for the band's field show when she said, "We will silence you with a magical spell..." While Ms. O'Donnell marked time, the band took it from there.

The members who march while coordinating their musical talent with continuous pattern formations on the field are: freshmen Erika Buschmann and played a solo.

Divisions are sized according to playing members: Division I, up to 29; Division II, 30 to 39; Division III, 40 to 65; Division IV, 66 or more.

Competition standings in Division II were: Oliver Ames (82.6), best band front, percussion, music; Andover (75.8), best drum major; Old Orchard Beach, Maine (68.7).

Andover's next competition is Sunday, Oct. 23, in Portsmouth, N.H., at 1 p.m.

Andover High

Andover High's marching band and color guard performs last weekend.

School will host a competition Sunday, Oct. 30. Only three weeks are left in the competition season before the NESBA finals in Quincy.

Nearsighted? Astigmatism?

RADIAL KERATOTOMY (RK) is a procedure which may permanently correct your vision. RK is a predictable and proven medical procedure which can reduce, and in most cases eliminate refractive disorders. If you are nearsighted or have astigmatism and want to eliminate or reduce dependency on glasses or contact lenses, you could be a candidate for this new technique.

CATARACT/REFRACTIVE SURGERY is a combined procedure that allows you to have your cataract removed as well as your refractive error corrected. With this new technique, you can reduce your dependency on glasses by correcting your refractive problem, as well as enjoy the benefits of having your cataract removed. If you have cataracts and astigmatism, nearsightedness or farsightedness, this Cataract/Refractive procedure could be for you.

ARE YOU BUGGED BY BUGS

Tiny insects can create huge problems when a house is on the market. Whether it is fleas or roaches, their presence can turn away prospective buyers. And so can the odor of insects.

If you have an insect problem, handle it before you place your home on the market. Consider calling in a professional to advise you on the most effective and least toxic way to exterminate your home. If there is an expectant mother, or if you have children or pets in your household, be extra careful. Air the house thoroughly to eliminate any lingering bug spray odors. Consider replacing moth balls with cedar chips and using boric acid or some other odorless ant and roach killers. If this sounds like a lot of trouble, remember that even if they love your house, a single cockroach can frighten off prospective buyers.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate specialists at Century 21 Carriage House are ready to serve you. Feel free to visit our office at 10 High Street, or phone us at 475-1243.

Get locked up for good cause

Spend some time behind bars next Thursday, Oct. 27. Business people in the area are being asked to be locked up at TCI Cablevision, 191 Chandler Road, to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

A limousine will bring a Keystone Cop to round up the jailbirds. They will receive a free lunch and the use of a cellular phone to contact their relatives, friends and business associates "to bail them out."

Cantor Benji-Ellen Schiller to appear at Temple Emanuel tomorrow night

Cantor Benji-Ellen Schiller, the first full-time Cantorial faculty member of the School of Sacred Music at Hebrew Union College, the seminary that trains Reform cantors and rabbis, will be at Temple Emanuel this weekend, Oct. 21-23. Her visit is being made possible by the Benjamin and Esther Russem Scholar-in-Residence Fund.

Cantor Schiller will deliver a Sermon in Song entitled, "Sacred Keys to Worship: The Melodies of our Time" Friday, Oct. 21, at 8:15 p.m. Rabbi Robert Goldstein will lead the liturgy of the Sabbath eve service, and Cantor Donn Rosensweig will join Cantor Schiller in some of the music.

A deli supper will precede a "Havdalah" service and song session Saturday, Oct. 22. Havdalah means to separate, and it is the service that separates the sabbath from the regular work week. Members of the temple's junior and senior youth groups and their families are encouraged to attend the program, which begins at 6 p.m.

On Sunday morning, Cantor Schiller will lead the religious school's music sessions. All programs, although geared to specific age groups, are open to all.

Cantor Schiller's presence at Temple Emanuel marks the first "Cantorial" scholar-in-residence.

All programs are open to the public, although reservations are necessary for the Saturday evening dinner.

Call the temple office at 470-1356 for more information.

Rev. Virginia Mason to be installed as pastor

The Rev. Virginia Lambert Mason of Andover will be installed associate pastor Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, in an ecumenical service at Second Church in Newton. The Rev. Meredith B. Handspicker, professor of pastoral theology and evangelism at Andover Newton Theological School (and Rev. Mason's adviser while she was a student there) will deliver the sermon, "Servus Servorum Dei" (Servant of the Servants of God). Rabbi David Whiman of Temple Shalom in West Newton will offer greetings from the community. The Imperial Brass, members of the Sanctuary Choir of Second Church and music director Robert Johnson, and clergy representing churches all over Massachusetts will also take part in the service.

Rev. Mason, who was ordained Sept. 18 at South Church in Andover, began her ministry at Second Church in June.

Rev. Virginia Mason

Most recently, Ms. Mason served as director of youth and educational ministries at South Church, her family's church. Under her leadership, the high school youth group began its involvement in a housing ministry in rural Maine, which continues in its third year. Ms. Mason has a special interest in exploring faith issues with youth and has taught workshops on confirmation education within the denomination. Before entering the seminary, Rev. Mason worked for five years as director of children's music at South Church.

Rev. Mason will continue to live in Andover, where she is encouraged ("and challenged") by her extended family: her parents, Kit and Ward Lambert; her husband, Marty, a manager at Hewlett-Packard, and their children, Kate, 12, and Andrew, 10.

U.N. Sunday: The Year of the Family

United Nations Sunday will be celebrated by the Unitarian Universalist Congregation in Andover, 6 Locke St., at its 10:30 a.m. worship service.

The theme, "Year of the Family," will consider important issues facing families, such as equality for women, including the right to choose; children's rights; equal rights for gays and lesbians; and the problem of overpopulation.

The Unitarian Universalist Congregation draws from all religious traditions to help individuals find pathways to spiritual growth in community.

NOT ALL HIGH SCHOOLS ARE CREATED EQUAL...FOR GIRLS.

"The educational system is not meeting girls' needs. Girls and boys enter school roughly equal in measured ability. Twelve years later, girls have fallen behind their male classmates in key areas such as math and science, confidence, and self esteem. Girls are one-half our future. We must move them from the sidelines to the center of the educational reform debate."

Mrs. Sanders was born and educated in Boston. She lived in Lawrence for 35 years. She moved to Andover four years ago.

Mrs. Sanders was a secretary for 16 years at Congregation Tifereth Anshai Sfard & Sons of Israel in Lawrence.

Members of her family include her husband, Louis Sanders of Andover; daughter and son-in-law, Shelley and Tom Diffilly of North Reading; son, Howard Sanders of Derry, N.H.; and three grandchildren.

Graveside services were held yesterday, Wednesday, at Lebanon-Tifereth Israel Cemetery in Peabody.

Arrangements were by Goldman-Fisher Funeral Chapel in Malden.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Helen J. O'Rorke Was registered nurse

Helen J. O'Rorke, 83, of Haverhill, died Tuesday, Oct. 18, at Union Mission Nursing Home.

Born in Groveland, she graduated from Groveland High School and St. Elizabeth's School of Nursing in Brighton.

Obituaries

Mary Delaney, 90
Rose Miele, 74
Helen J. O'Rorke, 83
Ruth Sanders, 73

Mrs. O'Rorke worked as a registered nurse at Hale Hospital for 20 years and, after her retirement, did private-duty nursing. She later became supervisor of nurses at the Hannah Duston Long-Term Health Care Center.

She was an active member of Sacred Hearts Church and the Catholic Daughters of Sacred Hearts. She was also a founder of the Groveland Catholic Daughters and was involved with the Marist Association and the Private Duty Nurse Association of Haverhill.

She was the widow of Francis E. O'Rorke, who died in 1970. Family members include her sons and their wives, Francis E. "Frank" and Judith A. O'Rorke of Andover, and Vincent P. and Donna O'Rorke of Bradford; daughters, Mary Ellen Ruch of Cincinnati, Ohio, and twins, Patricia A. Cargiulo of Chappaqua, N.Y., and Paula O'Rorke Janes of Haverhill; a sister and her husband, Alice P. and Cornelius Lynch of Haverhill; eight grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Services are tomorrow, Friday, at 10 a.m. at Farmer & Sons Bradford Funeral Home, 210 S. Main St., Bradford, followed by an 11 a.m. Mass at Sacred Hearts Church.

Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery, Groveland.

Calling hours are today, Thursday, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home.

Contributions may be made to Merrimack Valley Hospice, 1 Union St., Andover, Mass. 01810, or to Sacred Hearts Church, 48 South Chestnut St., Bradford, Mass. 01835.

Dr. Bernie Siegel spoke at the Collins Center recently on "The Inward Journey: A Guide to Life, Love, Health and Completeness." The event was sold out. Here he signs a book for Andover resident Dolyne Divino-Perry. His talk was sponsored by the Merrimack Valley Hospice.

Conference to explore Creative Aging

Elder Services and Jewish Family Service of the Merrimack Valley will co-sponsor a conference entitled "Creative Aging: Exploring New Choices" on Friday, Nov. 4, at Northern Essex Community College from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The keynote speaker is Helen Nearing, the 91-year-old author of more than 40 books. Her latest book, Loving and Leaving the Good Life, was published shortly after her husband, Scott Nearing's, consciously-chosen death at age 100.

Workshop choices include: adventures in learning; retirement; the next (best) third of your life; finding the fountain of youth in your kitchen; mind and body stretch; spirituality; contemplating the harvest of your life; and midlife: reflecting, re-evaluating, and moving on.

Call at Elder Services at 683-7747, or JFS at 683-6711.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

THE DEATH OF A PARENT

Regardless of our ages, the death of a parent is likely to be one of the most important emotional tasks of our lifetime. Even middle-aged people report feeling like orphans after experiencing a parent's death. According to a University of Southern California study, 40 percent of the middle-aged adults who lost a parent were so affected by the event that they had trouble with normal day-to-day activities (such as sleeping and working) for as long as three months after it occurred. All of which is to say that it is normal to feel a void and experience grief after the death of a parent, regardless of our age. How well we permit ourselves to confront these emotions gives us a good indication of how we will deal with our own aging and deaths.

We all know we will bury our parents someday. Although we are prepared for the event, we are unprepared for the actual moment of death and the shock of really knowing we are grown up and perhaps alone. The professional and caring staff at BURKE FUNERAL HOME can help you through this trying time by listening to and discussing your feelings. To find out more about selecting funeral arrangements that will pay tribute to your parent in a way that is most conducive to your personal beliefs, call 475-5200. You will find us located at 390 North Main Street.

QUOTE: "It is the intimations of mortality, not immortality, that devastate parents in the presence of their young."

Conference to explore Creative Aging

Elder Services and Jewish Family Service of the Merrimack Valley will co-sponsor a conference entitled "Creative Aging: Exploring New Choices" on Friday, Nov. 4, at Northern Essex Community College from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The keynote speaker is Helen Nearing, the 91-year-old author of more than 40 books. Her latest book, Loving and Leaving the Good Life, was published shortly after her husband, Scott Nearing's, consciously-chosen death at age 100.

Workshop choices include: adventures in learning; retirement; the next (best) third of your life; finding the fountain of youth in your kitchen; mind and body stretch; spirituality; contemplating the harvest of your life; and midlife; reflecting, reevaluating, and moving on.

Call at Elder Services at 683-7747, or JFS at 683-6711.

by Garry A. Burke

THE DEATH OF A PARENT

Regardless of our ages, the death of a parent is likely to be one of the most important emotional tasks of our lifetime. Even middle-aged people report feeling like orphans after experiencing a parent's death. According to a University of Southern California study, 40 percent of the middle-aged adults who lost a parent were so affected by the event that they had trouble with normal day-to-day activities (such as sleeping and working) for as long as three months after it occurred. All of which is to say that it is normal to feel a void and experience grief after the death of a parent, regardless of our age. How well we permit ourselves to confront these emotions gives us a good indication of how we will deal with our own aging and deaths.

We all know we will bury our parents someday. Although we are prepared for the event, we are unprepared for the actual moment of death and the shock of really knowing we are grown up and perhaps alone. The professional and caring staff at BURKE FUNERAL HOME can help you through this trying time by listening to and discussing your feelings. To find out more about selecting funeral arrangements that will pay tribute to your parent in a way that is most conducive to your personal beliefs, call 475-5200. You will find us located at 390 North Main Street.

Storytelling Festival starts Friday, featuring local tales

The Andover Bookstore will host its first annual Storytelling Festival tomorrow and Saturday. The event begins Friday at 7 p.m. with "Town Tales, Stories of Andover."

Several invited townspeople, including Charles Dufton, will relate stories from Andover's colorful history. There will be an open story swap at 8 p.m.

Anyone who has a brief story about Andover is invited to offer it. This event is co-sponsored by the Andover Historical Society. A student storyteller's workshop and performance will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. This is an opportunity for aspiring young storytellers to try out their craft. Call the bookstore to reserve a space. Free coaching by Susan Lenoe is available.

A storybook costume parade contest will be held at 1 p.m. Kids should come dressed as their favorite storybook characters. The parade forms at the bookstore and proceeds around the block to the Historical Society lawn for songs. Then the parade will go back to the bookstore for prizes and cookies.

Stay on for storytellers for all ages from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Guests will be storyteller Susie Wicks from Franklin and Janice Faye Molner from Acton, telling one of her original fairy tales.

An evening of Celtic stories and music with Magdalen Cantwell will begin at 7. Ms. Cantwell is a storyteller and educator who was raised in the world of Gaelic storytelling. She'll trace the history of storytelling in Ireland, touching on ancient Celtic myths, and finish with a traditional Irish story. Jerry and Nancy Bell will perform on musical instruments, including the bagpipes, at 8 p.m.

All events are free of charge.

Activists question zoning bylaw re-write process mittee, they will then consider who to appoint to it.

The Zoning Bylaw Task Force held its first meeting Sept. 12. The agenda for that meeting included discussions about the purpose and function of the group, its goals and objectives, how it would document proposals and ideas, strategies for presenting its proposals, and a schedule for future meetings. A second meeting was held Oct. 3 and a third meeting is scheduled for Nov. 7, but it is unclear whether that meeting will take place.

Members of the task force include Planning Board member Michael Miller; Bob Zollner, special town counsel to both the Planning and Zoning boards; Carol McDonough and Daniel Casper, members of the Zoning Board of Appeals; Building Inspector Kaija Gilmore; and Jane Griswold, former long-time ZBA member.

Who done it?

Town watchdog Mary Carbone, of 3 Cyr Circle, called each selectman last week and asked what they knew about the task force after she saw a notice for a meeting of the group posted at town offices. Ms. Carbone said most members knew little or nothing of the task force. She told board members Monday night that the town manager, Buzz Stapeczynski, should be keeping selectmen informed of things he's doing and that a taxpayer shouldn't have to bring something like this to their attention.

"He's supposed to report to you," Ms. Carbone said.

Gerald Silverman, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said members of the task force have not yet been officially appointed.

"It is not a governmental body. They did not really need to post their meetings," but did so for the benefit of persons who were interested in taking part in the discussion or in joining the group, Mr. Silverman said.

Mr. Silverman said Tom Urbelis, town counsel, told him the group did not need to announce its meetings.

Ms. Carbone challenged Mr. Silverman on whether he knew the group even existed prior to her calls about it, insinuating that it was being established by the town manager without the consent or knowledge of selectmen. Mr. Silverman disputed that point.

"I told you I knew about it," Mr. Silverman said.

"No you didn't. You didn't tell me that. The process has been changed," Ms. Carbone said.

Request for appointment

Mr. Miller, who along with Mr. Casper, Ms. Griswold and Mr. Zollner attended Monday's meeting, gave board members a brief history of the group and asked selectmen for an official appointment of the task force so it could begin its work on the re-write of the zoning bylaw.

Mr. Miller told selectmen that discussions of the need to re-write the zoning bylaw have been a constant at Planning Board meetings since he joined the board more than two years ago, and that those discussions date back to 1988, according to long-time members. The Planning and Zoning boards and the building inspector have been faced with continual problems with interpretation of the outdated bylaw for years, he said.

"It is a document that has not been recodified since 1964," Mr. Miller said. "It ought to be reviewed to try and make it user-friendly."

The document contains "inconsistent terminology, a confusing format and conflicts with other land-use regulations."

In a letter presented to selectmen at the meeting, Mr. Miller said the bylaw does not adequately reflect the changes that have occurred over the years in technology, the real estate market and lifestyles. The organization of the document is such that it is difficult to find anything in it, he said. Amendments made to the bylaw during the last 30 years have resulted in a document that contains "inconsistent terminology, a confusing format and conflicts with other land-use regulations."

The boards themselves don't have the time to do the re-write in the time allotted for regular business, Mr. Miller said. But members and former members of town boards are willing to put in the time and effort involved in a re-write to update the document, he said.

Another town watchdog, Margaret Cronin, of 20 Summer St., expressed concern about the make-up of the Task Force.

"Who initiated this process? Which board?" Ms. Cronin asked.

Mr. Miller said it was a combination of Planning and Zoning boards and the building inspector. Selectman James Barenboim said he had also discussed updating the bylaw with the town manager several times because of problems he ran into with his own properties in town.

Mr. Stapeczynski last week said members of the ZBA dating back to Wes Whitney, who served on the board for about 18 years and resigned three or four years ago, had expressed difficulty in working with the bylaw, as did Sam DeSalvo, former building inspector.

Planner Laura Hill asked Mr. Stapeczynski several months ago if she could start talking to Ms. Gilmore and members of the Planning and Zoning boards to start bringing together a group to work on the re-write, the manager said last week.

"I said yes," he said.

Two weeks ago, according to Mr. Stapeczynski, Ms. Hill said that Mr. Casper and Mr. Miller asked if they could go to selectmen to be sanctioned as an official group so they could begin their task in earnest.

"I want to see it off to a good start because the interest is good and the end result is going to be good for all of us," Mr. Stapeczynski said. "It's a living, breathing document. It affects Andover residents more than they know."

Task force or committee

Ms. Cronin said she agreed that the bylaw needs updating, but was concerned that the Board of Appeals, which she described as quasi-judicial, should not be involved in establishing the very law it is charged with interpreting. Ms. Cronin also questioned whether a task force was different than a committee. Activist John Doyle, of 40 Reservation Road, asked for a definition of a task force.

Mr. Silverman said that once appointed by selectmen, the group becomes a committee. Mr. Stapeczynski said a task force is a group created for a specific period of time for a single purpose.

"It is still an appointment of the manager approved by the Board of Selectmen," Mr. Stapeczynski said.

Selectman William Downs said "task force" and "committee" are interchangeable.

Open meetings

Mr. Zollner questioned what process would be followed by the task force.

Mr. Miller said the group's meetings would be open to the public; that they would bring issues to selectmen as they sought input along the way; and that they would present a final report to selectmen regarding their proposals for town meeting. He said they hoped to reorganize the current format, identify problems and make recommendations for changes to the bylaw.

Mr. Zollner said the meetings up to this point have really been preliminary meetings focused on getting something together to make a presentation to selectmen, as was being done Monday night. He said the group is made up of people who have worked with the bylaw and know its strengths and weaknesses and needs.

Mr. Zollner said he worked on the bylaw re-write in 1964 and that that document has grown "some barnacles." He said that if the re-write is completed in just two years, as has been projected, he would be surprised. It is a huge undertaking, he said.

As was done in 1964, a draft of the new bylaw would go to selectmen for review before it would go to town meeting, Mr. Zollner said. In the draft, the new proposed bylaw would be compared with the old so everyone would know what was being changed.

"It's a process that, it's arduous, but it's necessary if you're going to do it," Mr. Zollner said.

Mr. Zollner said there have been "immense" changes in zoning bylaw since 1964.

Town watchdog William Cronin, of 17 Stinson Road, expressed concern that appointing the entire re-written bylaw for review and a vote at one town meeting would be overwhelming for most residents. Mr. Silverman said that was how it was done in 1964 when a special town meeting was held just to deal with the bylaw.

Mr. Silverman said Mr. Casper and Mr. Miller had indicated that a number of citizens had expressed interest in taking part in the re-write. One of the concerns brought up Monday night was that non-board members were not represented on the task force.

Mr. Downs questioned whether members of the task force would be chosen from the town's talent pool — a group of people who have filled out forms indicating a willingness to participate in these type of projects, or if they would be chosen by some other means.

Mr. Downs asked that a charter to be written, specifying the goals and responsibilities of the group, and how it is to be comprised. Mr. Stapeczynski said that will be done for the group's next meeting, at which time selectmen will consider approving the appointment of such a group.

"Whatever comes out of it has to be approved at Town Meeting anyway," said Selectman Charles Wesson. "I think only good could come of it."

Addressing middle schools' crowding problem

In addition, by September of 2001, when the expanded High School is projected to house 1,634 students, 1,548 students will be roaming the middle-school hallways.

These new enrollment projections are based on the latest available information as of October 1994 and are labeled by Gail Zeman, schools' business manager, as "conservative."

Logically, students who are coming from an expanded elementary system to an expanded High School have only one way to get there.

"They have to go through here," said Sam Campbell, West Middle School principal.

"The projection is we'll have about 1,500 kids passing through the middle schools at any time. That's going to put a strain on the middle schools," said Dick Neal, interim superintendent. "What I was trying to do is just alert the committee that I saw this coming down the road."

However, Mr. Neal; Floyd McManus, Doherty Middle School principal; and Dr. Campbell said to

Sam Campbell

their knowledge the school system has not yet discussed specific ways to deal with the middle schools' ballooning populations.

Neither a middle-school expansion project, nor moving the eighth-grade classes to the expanded High School, nor other specific solutions have been debated, they said.

"We haven't talked about it, but we have to (deal with) what does it mean," said Mr. Neal.

"Basically the middle schools are pretty close to full now and we're talking about adding another 280 students" by September, 2001, Lloyd Willey, School Committee member, said at Tuesday's meeting.

Susan Dalton, committee secretary, suggested the committee review this matter in the spring after annual Town Meeting.

Enrollments at the middle-school level have increased over the last few years and the new projections show that this trend will continue through 2002. A significant amount of planning will be necessary to handle the bulging numbers of students, according to Dr. Campbell.

"We're probably still within what I call our contractual numbers, but it's getting close. So we're going to have to keep a close eye on those numbers all the way through the summer," said Dr. Campbell. "Can we adequately take care of a growing population? My answer is 'Yes, we will.'"

Because of the increased enrollments, the Municipal Maintenance Department has already altered the layout of Doherty to maximize use of space.

By turning one third of the industrial arts room into a classroom, combining two smaller rooms to make one, enclosing open space and converting teachers' room; the maintenance department created "five or six more classrooms," said Mr. McManus.

"We haven't been happy about using the space that we had because it was certainly used in a productive way before, but it's a matter of priority," said Mr. McManus.

Dr. Campbell said he is concerned about the effect of the enrollments on the schools' "team flavor," a flavor he described as "the whole essence of a middle school."

"At some point you lose some of what a middle school is about in terms of teaming," he said. "My strong belief is that the whole teaming aspect is one of the largest parts of middle school."

Parents to receive letters about math ability grouping a better method of implementation can be worked out.

"It's heinous. We fought it. It's a terrible policy," said Chris Outwin, former committee member. "The problem is not with the kids. It is the way we are teaching them. I implore the School Committee to abandon this destructive, self-defeating policy."

Mr. Outwin presented the committee with a petition signed by 60 parents urging the committee to reconsider establishment of sixth grade math levels.

Earlier leveling caused "hellacious damage" he said, charging that by creating two math levels in sixth grade, "We're going to say (to students) that half of them aren't as smart as the other half."

Although Mr. Outwin received applause when he was finished, a number of the parents who attended the meeting supported the committee's decision to expand leveling.

Bob McCumber, of Arundel Street, said that political correctness and liberal thinking have impacted education too much already.

"We can't keep putting our children at the altar of that and keep sacrificing them," he said. "I want materials and challenges put in front of my child that they're going to have to stretch to reach."

"You must service the needs of all children and all children learn at different rates," said Jonalyn O'Connor, of Deerfield Way. "I also understand that often, and too often, (quicker-learning) students are cast in the role of tutors."

A vote that would have delayed the implementation of sixth-grade math ability grouping was defeated 3-2.

The School Committee unanimously voted to extend ability grouping to sixth grade math in June, and the majority of the committee said they remain committed to that vote.

A group of four sixth-grade teachers, three from Doherty Middle School and one from West Middle School, worked together at the end of the summer to develop a plan and criteria to be used for grouping the math students.

Administrators and teachers decided the first nine weeks of the first term would be used to evaluate students with a letter then going home to parents explaining that leveling would be instituted at the start of second term, Nov. 14.

"Time was very short in the spring," said Sam Campbell, West Middle School, principal. "The only time there's been to really take a good look has been this fall."

According to Candace Borrello, Doherty teacher, the criteria used to group students included:

- Their score on the New England Math League test, taken within the last month;
- Their present classroom performance;
- Their academic history, primarily from the fifth grade; and and have for the last couple of weeks.

"We were in for a couple of weeks just getting used to it," Mike DeStefano said Tuesday.

Mr. Vetrano will continue to work a few days a week temporarily, while the new owners get acclimated, the younger Mr. DeStefano said.

The DeStefanos live in Andover. New member

The Board of Selectmen welcomed a new member to its extended family Monday night, as Selectman Charles Wesson Jr. last week became a grandfather for the 11th time.

• The motivation and interest they have shown this year.

Susan Dalton, committee secretary, tried to remove the committee from community criticism relating to the implementation of the math leveling by saying, "The School Committee was not involved in that for a very good reason. That's not our job."

She said if the committee was involved in the implementation of its policy it "could be accused of trying to micro-manage the system."

The new leveling will not affect what teachers students currently have, although many students' class times will be altered.

"What will happen is that there will be some changes within the teams. There will be a number of students who may have the same classes, at a different time," said Dr. Campbell.

"We're working hard to get that off" and running to make that transition as smooth as we can for the kids," said Floyd McManus, principal of Doherty Middle School.

Looks like town will have $1.2M in new growth revenues

By Don Staruk

Town watchdog Dennis Teves, of 8 Mohawk Drive, asked Tony Torrisi, budget and finance director, at the selectmen's meeting Monday if it is true that, in the budget for this year, he under-estimated the new growth revenues available to the town.

Mr. Torrisi said he had projected $800,000 would be available in new growth revenues this year, but that new projections indicate that figure will be closer to $1.2 million.

Mr. Teves asked if the town would use that excess $400,000 to reduce the tax burden on residents, or whether officials would just find another way to spend it. Selectmen said that would be decided during tax-classification hearings in December.

That'll be one deli, coming right up

In other news from their meeting Monday, selectmen approved a common victualer license for Lawrence A. DeStefano, the new owner of John's Village Deli, 22 Andover St.

Mr. DeStefano bought the deli from John Vetrano. The sale went through last weekend. Mr. DeStefano and his son, Mike, will both work at the deli, and have for the last couple of weeks.

"We were in for a couple of weeks just getting used to it," Mike DeStefano said Tuesday.

Mr. Vetrano will continue to work a few days a week temporarily, while the new owners get acclimated, the younger Mr. DeStefano said.

Working together

SHED, Shawsheen Extended Day, and Kids Club have outgrown their space within Andover's public schools. Now it makes good sense for the town to encourage and nurture the union of the before- and after-school groups and the Teen Council's so-called Field of Dreams.

For years, the teen-agers of Andover have asked the community to build them a place where they can comfortably gather. This time the community is closer than ever before to making this dream come true.

The town owns land at Recreation Park, a logical location for a building to be erected as a center. Right now the successful SHED and Kids Club have money to put into a facility that will suit them.

Sounds like a marriage to us. However, all of us — teens and adults involved — need to make sure to listen to make sure the concerns and needs of both groups will be met. That will mean some compromising. Teens will have to be realistic. And they have to realize that SHED and Kids Club have some very specific needs.

On the other hand, the adults should remember that these kids represent hundreds like them, now and in the future. So when they ask questions and voice concerns, it is our job to listen. True, they aren't architects, and they may have some expensive goals for the center, but they are closer to the hearts and minds of emerging adults than the rest of us.

This is a big deal, putting up a community gathering place, and we want to do it right.

We are pleased that ACCEPT has joined this community project. The more people willing to help, the more this will turn into a community effort.

Now we can envision a good-sized center bustling with adults and kids, where a Teen Council meets each week, where teens work in after-school projects with SHED kids, where a DCS class or two might be in process, where several new playing fields are alive, where . . .

We're all responsible for the children

By Perry Colmore

Now shut your eyes. Think back when you were 11 years old. Chances are you were healthy, too. Well fed. Well clothed. Perhaps you worried about nuclear war, or which baseball team you'd be on. But for the most part you were OK, in good shape.

I was in New York last week, taking a vacation of opera, theater and museums. It was, for the most part, a wonderful week. The sun was shining, and I felt alive and turned on. Usually.

We saw several homeless people. Most were men. They were filthy, often asleep during the day, some sleeping off the previous night's liquor, many carrying green plastic bags or dragging shopping carts stuffed with all their possessions. It makes me sad.

But there was one homeless couple I can't forget: a mother and her child. The child looked to be 5 or 6 years old. I wondered if she was old enough to be truant. She was sitting on her mother's lap. The mother sat on the sidewalk, her hand reaching out at you with a paper cup. Begging. The child, a girl, looked straight into my eyes. She was dirty. And beautiful.

Three years ago when I was in New York during a cold spell in February, I came out of a museum and saw a homeless person bundled against the snow, leaning into a stone wall for shelter. Her layers of clothes were about the same color as the wall — gray — so it took me a minute to realize this woman was trying to protect her infant from the wind. I haven't forgotten that mother and child, either.

It is up to us, the adults, to take care of the children. And when a parent can't cope, another adult must.

Last weekend, Oct. 14-16, thousands of churches, synagogues and other religious congregations marked the third Children's Sabbath, an annual observance designed by the Children's Defense Fund to remind us of the needs of children.

The child I saw in her mother's arms in New York last week had a vacant look in her eyes. Imagine her despair. Imagine her hunger. I wonder if she has ever gone to a dentist. Maybe she hasn't been inoculated against polio. Does anyone ever read to her? Where is her father? Has she ever had a teddy bear?

In Andover, we try to know the families that need help. Teachers and religious gathering places reach out to children in need. Here it is, perhaps, more difficult to get in touch with the needs of children than in larger cities. Still, there are ways in which we can reach out. Sometimes it means offering support to the parents of a difficult child, or a sick

Listen to the fire chief

Editor, Townsmen:

Your Sept. 29 article on "Firefighters and Chief..." was excellent and explained in detail the real problems. In reading the many Oct. 6 letters to the editor, however, it appears that the chief looks like the culprit and the firefighters the "good guys." And all because they refused to ride on an "unsafe" fire truck.

Giving the firefighters the benefit of the doubt, some minor repairs should be made. What seems to be lost, however, is that the chief is having a problem keeping overtime under control. We all want to believe that our public safety personnel are there to protect us and that they can expect our overwhelming support when they expose themselves to danger, but it appears that the taxpayers, not the firefighters, are the ones that need support.

The chief indicated that firefighters are allowed 15 sick days per year and last year they used 12.5 per employee. His comment "that tells you right there," shows what the problem is. Many of us have worked five, 10 or more years without using 12.5 days. Considering the physical demands of being a firefighter, you would expect them to be in the very best of condition, not people with monthly problems.

To add insult to injury, the firefighters then expect to be called in at overtime rates to cover all the excess absences! When the chief attempted to gain control of this situation, lo and behold, the "unsafe" fire truck appeared!

We need to support the chief and not be blinded by the smokescreen of the "unsafe" fire truck. It is a sad commentary that some of our public employees feel that there is no bottom to the taxpayers' pockets - and also that so many people in those expensive homes do not seem able to recognize it.

Opposes rent control

Editor, Townsmen:

In reference to your article on Ballot

Question #9 (rent control), I'd like to add a few comments as an active participant in the system. Having managed commercial and apartment properties in Cambridge for over 30 years, I have long since concluded the rent control is a perfect example of well-intended social engineering that has run amok:

1. Infringement of rights. Vinny Bologna, the gentleman cited in your article, is just one of hundreds of hardship cases, who is prohibited by law from occupying his own home. These victims of the system are the ones who gathered signatures to put this question on the ballot, despairing of ever receiving accommodation from the perennially CCA-dominated city council.

2. Subsidy for the affluent. I rarely agree with Barbara Anderson, but she's right on this one. There is no means testing for rent control, and countless, very prosperous tenants are benefiting from a program that was designed to protect the less privileged. Surveys reveal that between 80-90 percent of rent-controlled tenants are middle or upper income.

3. Distortion of the tax base. What few people realize about rent control is that it subtracts dollars from the tax base that have to be made up elsewhere. Rental property in Cambridge is taxed on its income. Cut the income (rent control), and you cut the ability to tax that property. Who makes up the loss of what that property should generate? Easy answer: the rest of the Cambridge taxpayers.

I think it's great that the Townsmen is covering ballot questions - we need all the help we can get in this area. In this instance, they just happened to tap into my jugular vein, hence the response. As to my vested interest, I bailed out of rent-controlled property six years ago. The property didn't generate enough income to maintain it properly.

Questions 6 and 7

Editor, Townsmen:

I am writing to warn Lowell.

Lawrence area residents not to open Pandora's box on election day. Lurking beneath the rhetoric on Questions 6 and 7, the graduated income tax ballot measures, is the prospect of new local taxes.

Questions 6 and 7 would remove language in the state Constitution that now prohibits cities and towns from imposing their own income taxes.

That means if Questions 6 and 7 pass, the door will be opened wide for local option income and local option commuter taxes.

Promoters of Questions 6 and 7 dismiss the issue by claiming these ballot questions deal only with state income taxes, and say nothing about local income taxes. But, they're not telling us everything.

As far back as 1929, the state Supreme Judicial Court said that language in the Constitution mandating that income taxes be "levied at a uniform rate throughout the Commonwealth" means there cannot be different income tax rates in different communities. Questions 6 and 7 would eliminate that language from our Constitution, wiping out our protection against another layer of taxation. It's as simple as that.

Anyone who lives or works in the Lowell/Lawrence area should avoid this hidden tax by voting no on Questions 6 and 7.

Yes on Question 1

Editor, Townsmen:

A new election season is upon us and as usual it is accompanied by a barrage of advertising, most of it false or misleading. This is especially true in the case of referendum Question #1. Voting yes on Question #1 simply puts similar restraints on corporate and non-profit organization spending for referendum questions that already exist for their spending in support of political candidates and/or parties.

Even that degree of restriction is very often evaded and large amounts of corporate money finds its way into favored candidate's campaign funds. There are no existing limits for spending on referendum questions and they are desperately needed if we are to return to fair elections.

It is easy to see why an elected public official should not owe his election to office to campaign funds contributed by a corporation. A corporation's reason for existence is to make money. It is not working for the public good. Elections tend to be won by the side that spends the most money. Corporations have been out-spending citizens in our referendum elections by many millions of dollars. We need the same controls in referendum elections as we have in elections for public office and for the same reasons. Vote Yes on Question #1.

Remember, it takes an entire village to raise a child child. Or helping an exhausted parent.

Newspapers receive an amazing variety of mail relating to just about any subject you can imagine. One of the more useful random mailings I received recently was from the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Entitled "When Parents Mistreat Their Children in Public," the release explained that the list of tips was created in response to the frequent phone calls the MSPCA receives from concerned people who say, "I saw a parent hit his child today, and as upset as I was, I wasn't sure what to do."

The list, I thought was helpful.

• Sympathize with the parent. Say something like, "She seems to be trying your patience," or "My child used to get upset like that."

• Divert the angry attention away from the child. Strike up a conversation with the adult. Ask a question to provide a distraction. It may allow the parent's anger to subside.

• Compliment or praise the parent or child. Say something positive. "What a big, strong boy you have! How old is he?" Or, "It's a lot of work to shop with a toddler. I admire your effort."

• Offer sympathy and help. Sometimes a parent's anger is fueled by some embarrassment at the fuss the child is making. "Children sure can wear you out! Is there anything I can do to help?"

• Alert the store manager if you are concerned about the child's physical safety. Ask someone with authority to communicate this message: "This store is a safe place for children. We do not spank here."

• Quietly stand guard if the child is being neglected and is in jeop- ardy. For example, it is dangerous to leave a child unattended in a grocery cart or alone in a car. Stay with the child until the parent returns.

• Do not give dirty looks or make snide remarks. Disapproval or anger will only increase the parent's anger and make matters worse. If someone else in a store or restaurant is clearly disapproving, step in and support the parent by offering a kind remark or some help. Try to defuse the tension.

Well, all of the above could help. But of course, there's much more. Remember: It takes an entire village to raise a child.

See 19th century on a bus tour of the Andovers

A 19th-century Andover bus tour, co-sponsored by the Andover and North Andover historical societies, is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 5, at 10 a.m. The tour will take three hours and the fee is $15. The tour will take townspeople along streets made for horses, before highways and cars, through the original Andover, now divided among Andover, North Andover and South Lawrence.

Beginning at the North Andover Historical Society, 153 Academy Road, director Carol Majahad plans to start the tour at the Common, where one can see the early architectural styles of the 19th century, Federal and Greek Revival in domestic and commercial buildings. Driving toward the town's center, Ms. Majahad will point out homes from the Victorian period of the 1800s.

Traveling to Andover Village, Barbara Thibault, director of the Andover Historical Society, will talk about the Elm Square development, before driving to Ballardvale's High Vale Lane. This street provides vistas of the Vale, an overview of popular styles in domestic 19th-century architecture and a glimpse of the personalities who lived there. The tour will finish by taking North Main Street to Andover Street in South Lawrence, before returning to the North Andover Historical Society.

This tour is part of a series of tours to tell the story of settlement in historic Andover. Both the 17th and 18th centuries have been explored and next year, plans are to look at the 20th-century sites.

For the town's 350th anniversary in 1996, a sampler tour will be scheduled.

350th Committee lists 1996 major events

By Virginia Lopez Begg
350th Anniversary Committee

Andover's 350th Anniversary Committee, which has been working for more than a year, has announced that some of its major events for 1996 are falling into place. Plans include at least one important observance during almost every month of the celebratory year. Volunteers who want to help on any of the subcommittees should call Norma Gammon at Memorial Hall Library. Committee members are needed for the following events, scheduled so far:

- A kick-off event, organized by Ann Constantine, will feature an original musical program and reception at Old Town Hall.

- Artifacts from Andover's past will be featured in a special display at Old Town Hall in April. Margaret Cronin is in charge of this subcommittee.

- The 19th-century town meeting that addressed the split between Andover and North Andover will be dramatized. A pancake breakfast precedes this event, planned by Norma Gammon.

- A house-and-garden tour spotlighting Andover's residential life down through the centuries will be a highlight of early May 1996. Karen Herman is heading this committee.

- Andover's role in the Civil War will be remembered with an encampment of the 28th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. Pam Thornton is chairwoman of this event.

- Robert Phinney is working on a dinner, to be held in mid-May.

- A firefighters' muster will be held in June. Charles Murnane of the Andover Fire Department will organize the muster.

- Charles Murnane and David Lynch are working on a soccer tournament between Andover and at least one other town with the same name.

This will be only one of September's celebrations.

- Ted Cole is organizing an effort to deck all downtown Andover with old fashioned patriotic bunting and fill store windows with historic displays during September.

- The same month will feature a parade. James Doherty promises "a glorious parade" with bands, floats, etc.

- A special appearance by the Boston Pops will be another major event in September 1996. Steven Kearn is in charge of this event.

- Not yet scheduled (but on the list) is a Celebration Ball, to be held at Phillips Academy and organized by Louise Ordman. Larry Larsen is putting together a symposium on Andover at 400, while David Rodger is planning literary contests featuring prose and poetry for students and adults. A fine arts festival rounds out the calendar plans to date.

AHS SPORTS ROUNDUP

Football loses 19 to 7

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity football team's two-game win streak came to a crashing halt last Friday night at Lovely Field, as Haverhill broke a 7-7 tie with a pair of third-quarter touchdowns en route to a 19-7 Merrimack Valley Conference victory.

The loss, the second straight to the Hillies but only the second time in 12 years Haverhill has beaten Andover (9-2-1 AHS edge), left the locals at 3-2-0 overall and 2-2-0 for sixth place in the 10-team league.

All five of Andover's games have been decided by margins of two touchdowns or less.

Coach Dick Collins' squad hits the road tomorrow night for a game against winless Dracut (0-6-0) at the Middies' Beaudry Field, and returns home the following Friday night to host winless Wilmington (0-5-0). The season concludes with three tough games in November at Chelmsford (Nov. 4), at Billerica (Nov. 11) and home on Thanksgiving morning against Central Catholic (10 a.m.).

"Haverhill was a very tough loss for us," said Coach Collins. "We scored on our first possession, moved down to their eight yard line on our second series, and then stopped the drive ourselves with a holding penalty."

"On their first touchdown (second quarter) we had them in check, forcing them to punt, but we were caught with 12 men on the field. That was 15 yards and a first down. Those two penalties cost us a touchdown and helped give them one, a 14-point swing. Still, penalties are part of the game and I don't want to take anything away from Haverhill. They got off to a bad start, came back and played us tough, and deserved to win."

"If we had played better in the second half the result would have been different. We ran off 31 plays in the first half, but Haverhill did the same by running off 31 plays in the second half. This was the first game, including Lowell, where the opposing team has clearly outplayed us the last two quarters."

"We had our opportunities. Late in the game we were inside their 20 and didn't score."

"Their third touchdown, the one that sealed the win, was a sack that produced a fumble which Haverhill recovered in the end zone," said Collins.

Swim team takes a dive

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls swim team managed only four first places, including a pair by junior standout Diana Liberty, en route to a 101.5 to 84.5 Merrimack Valley Conference dual meet loss to host Chelmsford last week.

The setback left Coach Marilyn Fitzgerald's crew at 3-2-0 in the league and 3-3-0 overall, while Chelmsford also squared its overall record at 3-3-0.

The Lady Warriors had a brutal assignment earlier this week, hosting undefeated defending MVC champ Nashua, but should wrap up the season with victories against Billerica (tomorrow), Lawrence (next Tuesday) and Methuen (next Friday, all 3:30 p.m.).

Defending State 500-yard freestyle champ Liberty captured her specialty in 5:27.25, completing the double which also included an earlier victory in the 200 IM (2:18.18).

Andover's third individual triumph came from freshman Jenna Blongiewicz in the 50 freestyle (26:52), and the talented ninth grader also anchored the victorious 200 medley relay squad which included senior Captain Tracie Grant, freshman Brenna O'Connor and sophomore Meghan Donahue (2:01.06).

Placing second for AHS were Grant (200 free and 100 backstroke), senior one-meter diver Joan Sunderland, Donahue (100 butterfly), Blongiewicz (100 free) and O'Connor (tie in 100 breaststroke). Grabbing third places for the locals were O'Connor (200 free) and senior diver Lisa Cinotti.

X-country ties first place

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys cross country team got back on track, and moved into a tie for first place with idle Tewksbury in the Merrimack Valley Conference Small School Division, when it blasted Lowell 18-37 in dual meet action last week. The victory was the eighth in the last nine meets over a two-year period, and boosted the Golden Warriors to 4-1-0 this fall.

The AHS girls, however, dropped to 1-4-0 as undefeated Large School co-leader Lowell (5-0-0) raced to an 18-38 triumph.

Coach Leo Lafond's two squads were back on the trails yesterday, the boys hosting unbeaten Large School frontrunner Central Catholic (5-0-0) and Lawrence High (3-3-0) while the girls were looking for their second win at the expense of Lawrence (1-5-0).

Andover boys 18 Lowell 37

Both teams placed five runners in the top 10, but the Golden Warriors cruised because their quintet was among the top six over the 2.7 mile AHS home course.

Junior Charlie Russo was again the top harrier for Andover, winning the race in 14:56. Last year's State Meet qualifier was six seconds better than junior teammate Leo Blais who crossed in 15:02.

Jason Blodgett of Lowell interrupted the AHS parade briefly, placing third in 15:07, but the next three finishers were from Andover to clinch the triumph. Sophomore Don Pattullo continued his steady improvement with a 15:11 clocking for fourth, senior Co-Captain Mark Adams was two strides and two seconds behind in 15:13, and senior Co-Captain Kevin Shepard made it another impressive pack finish with a 15:14 clocking for sixth place.

Lowell 18

Andover girls 38

The Lady Warriors grabbed four of the top 10 spots, but the Red Raiders sealed the victory by sweeping the first four places.

Sarah Thomas of Lowell was the runaway winner in 17:54. Sophomore Melissa Ying was first for Andover and fifth overall, only nine seconds behind the runner-up in 18:52. Senior Co-Captain Amanda Verreault finished sixth (19:09), and other strong races were run by AHS sophomore Meghan Woo (7th, 19:59) and freshman Nikki Winters (9th, 20:04). Andover sophomore Janine Givens won the girls' junior varsity race, also 2.7 miles, in 22:03.

Golf wins championship

By Rick Harrison

Strong performances up and down the line up, including medalist scores by Dave Shaffer and Jeff Mazza, enabled the Andover High golf team to complete an undefeated 1994 Merrimack Valley Conference season with resounding victories over Methuen, 8 1/2 to 1/2, and Central Catholic, 8-1, in matches at Indian Ridge CC. Those two wins clinched the Golden Warriors' second straight MVC Small School Division championship, and its fourth league division title (two Large School) in the last five years. Coach Bob Lawson's linksters finished 14-0-1 this fall, their first undefeated season in some time, and are an impressive 63-11-3 over the last five years (since 1990).

The season is not over, however, as Andover will again compete in the Northeast Area Qualifying Round to determine which schools advance to the State Team Tournament scheduled for late next spring.

The Golden Warriors will meet the champs and runners-up of several other leagues next Monday, Oct. 24, in the Division I team competition at Beverly Golf & Tennis Club.

In addition, AHS Co-Captains Dave Shaffer and Nate Roberts are representing the team at today's annual MVC Individual Championships at Haverhill CC. Two golfers from each of the 10 conference schools are squaring off in an 18-hole medal play round.

Andover 8 1/2 Methuen 1/2

Junior No. 1 Dave Shaffer led the way with a one-over par 36 at IRCC, capturing medalist honors and winning his individual match 5-and-4 over the Rangers' Jeff Briggs. No. 4 Pat Annese carded a 39 and defeated Tom Greenwood, 2-and-1, and the Shaffer-Annese tandem won their best ball point, 2-and-1.

In the second group, No. 2 Matt Dexter (41) topped Kevin O'Reil, 3-and-2. No. 5 Jeff Shea (40) took Adam Gabryjelski, 4-and-2. The Dexter-Shea duo won their best ball 2-and-1.

AHS freshman No. 3 Rob Oppenheim fired a 41 and upended John Desrocher, 3-and-2, while junior No. 6 Jeff Mazza (41) halved with Kurt Bergeron and the Golden Warriors won the best ball, 2-and-1.

Andover 8

Central Catholic 1

Small School runner-up Central (8-4-1) offered little resistance as Andover capped its undefeated campaign (the lone blemish a tie with Lowell). Jeff Mazza was the medalist with a sizzling one-under par 34 at Indian Ridge. Dave Shaffer, the MVC Small School Division golfer-of-the-year in 1993, completed a strong 11-2-0 season against the best in the league with a 1-up victory over Red Raiders No. 1 Kevin Connor. Shaffer, one of four AHS golfers to break 40 in the finale, fired a 38 and avenged one of his two 1994 losses. Connor shot a 39.

No. 4 Pat Annese (42) dropped Mike Shaughnessy, 3-and-2, and Andover won the best ball, 1-up. In the second foursome, No. 5 Jeff Shea shot 37 and beat Central's John Elliott 4-and-2. Shea and Matt Dexter also earned the best ball point, 3-and-2.

The Golden Warriors cleaned up in the third group, No. 3 Rob Oppenheim shooting 38 and trimming Bernie Campbell, 2-and-1, Mazza coasting past Jason Larocque, 4-and-3, and the AHS pair winning the best ball, 3-and-2.

Andover 6

Tewksbury 3

Dave Shaffer keyed the triumph at Trull Brook GC in Tewksbury, carding a crisp one-under par 35 and winning his match at No. 1 over Chris Bibbo of the Redmen, 4-and-3.

Medalist Shaffer joined Andover winner's No. 4 Jeff Mazza, a 3-and-1 conqueror of Chris Pendleton, No. 3 Rob Oppenheim who edged Brian Donahue, 1-up, and No. 5 Jeff Shea who topped Tewksbury's Eric Mehigan, 3-and-1.

Shaffer and Mazza won their best ball point easily, while Oppenheim and sophomore Pat Annese halved their best ball as did Shea and freshman No. 2 Matt Dexter.

Andover 6 1/2

Tewksbury 2 1/2

In the Warriors-Redmen rematch at home course Indian Ridge CC, the result was almost identical as Jeff Shea and Dave Shaffer were the catalysts. Shea earned medalist honors with an even-par 36, while Shaffer was one stroke back at 37. Both were also convincing winners in their head-to-head matches, Shea trimming Eric Mehigan 3-and-2 and Shaffer registering 4-and-3 romp over Chris Bibbo.

Rob Oppenheim continued his consistent play, topping Brian Donahue 2-up, while Pat Annese halved his match with Jarrod Genneti of Tewksbury. Andover swept the three best ball points with Shaffer and Jeff Mazza winning, 3-and-2, Matt Dexter and Jeff Shea, 1-up, Oppenheim and Annese 3-and-2.

Andover 9

Wilmington 0

The Golden Warriors swept past the Wild cats with ease at Hillview GC in North Reading. Dave Shaffer earned medalist honors for the eighth time this fall, carding a one-over 37, while other outstanding scores were recorded by junior Jeff Mazza and sophomore Geoff Gresh who fired 40s.

Joining those three as individual winners, all by wide margins, were Jeff Shea, Rob Oppenheim and senior Captain Nate Roberts. The locals completed their third shutout of the season by sweeping the three best ball points.

Field hockey takes Dracut

By Rick Harrison

Senior forward and team Co-Captain Sarah Weir, bothered by a bad back earlier this season, picked a perfect time to score her first goal of the year for the Andover High girls varsity field hockey team.

Weir connected with eight minutes to play as the Lady Warriors blanked Dracut 1-0 in recent Merrimack Valley Conference action.

The locals also dropped a tough 1-0 decision to Lawrence, and battled Haverhill to a 0-0 tie, emerging with a 5-5-3 league record and 5-6-3 overall mark. Coach Sandy Lunt's squad, tied for fourth in the conference and still in the hunt for an Eastern Mass. Tournament berth, was scheduled to host a struggling Tewksbury team earlier this week. Undefeated league champ Chelmsford (123-0-0) is in town tomorrow afternoon (3:30), and the regular season concludes next Monday night at home against Tyngsboro (7 p.m., Lovely Field).

Scoring leaders

After 13 games, senior forward Rachel Loschiavo led the team in total points with four goals and five assists. Senior forward and Co-Captain Jackie LeMaitre is the top goalscorer with six.

Dracut 0

Senior goaltender Kathleen Harris backed up Weir's game-winning tally with a six-save effort en route to her second shutout of Dracut (4-0 earlier) and her fifth whitewash of the season. Middies' netminder Erin Shanahan faced 11 shots and stopped 10 of them.

Lawrence 1

Andover 0

In another defensive tussle, the Lancers pulled into a fourth place tie with Andover and Tyngsboro when Jessica Gardner knocked home her own rebound in the first half for the winning goal.

Kathleen Harris was credited with 10 saves in the Lady Warriors' net as Lawrence outshot the locals, 11-5. It marked just the third time this fall that Andover had been blanked. The teams battled to a 2-2 tie earlier this season.

Volleyball loses three games

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls varsity volleyball team, hoping to make a stretch run that will qualify it for the State Division I Tournament, stumbled recently with consecutive 2-0 Merrimack Valley Conference losses to Methuen, Lawrence and a 2-1 setback to Chelmsford.

The Rangers registered a 15-10, 15-6 sweep and the Lancers posted a 15-12, 15-6 triumph that left the Lady Warrior netwomen at 5-8 in league play (fourth in Large School Division) and 6-8 overall.

Co-coaches Art Iworsley and George Sullivan's squad needed to win four of its final six matches to finish at .500 and qualify for the tournament for the seventh time in the last nine years. Tewksbury, Wilmington and non-league Bishop Fenwick should give AHS three of those victories, which would mean the locals need to pull one out against either Dracut, Haverhill (yesterday) or Methuen. Andover plays at winless Tewksbury tomorrow and hosts Wilmington on Monday at the Dunn Gym (both 3:30 p.m.).

The Andover J.V.s, meanwhile, continue to have their best season ever with a 13-1 record through 14 matches.

Methuen 2

The Lady Warriors received strong efforts from senior Leah Mason (setting, serving, defense), junior Andrea Marvin (serving, hitting), senior Kim Daher (blocking, serving, defense), sophomore Stephanie Brown (blocking), 6'1" sophomore Susan Tully (blocking) and Captain Ann Marie Hussey (setting).

"Methuen (7-5) has excellent leapers and all-around athletes in Diane Mowatt and Kelly Kineen, both of whom are outstanding track and basketball performers," said Coach Iworsley. "They blocked very well and scored a lot of Methuen's points with their hitting. When we began blocking their hits effectively, they started tipping the ball. That forced us into mistakes because we were guessing instead of reacting." Lawrence 2 Andover 0

The Lancers (11-3), MVC Small School co-leaders, overcame a sluggish start to defeat the Lady Warriors. Andover jumped ahead 8-2 in the first game, and clung to a 12-11 lead before Lawrence scored the last four points and dominated the second game.

"We went to a 5-1 alignment with one setter, and we were satisfied with our play in the first game," said Coach Iworsley. "The second game, despite the score (15-6), was even longer. We were only two points behind (6-4) when Lawrence began serving very well. That's the one part of the sport they've had trouble with all season, but they caught fire the second half of this game."

Top hitters throughout the match were Leah Mason (back-row defense, hitting), Ann Marie Hussey (back-row defense, setting) and Kim Daher (back-row defense, serving).

"We played tough but Lawrence was better," said Coach Iworsley. Andover 2 Bishop Fenwick

Leading the charge for Andover were Cara Rossini (defense), Susan Tuilly (hitting), Leah Mason, Kim Daher, Ann Marie Hussey, Andrea Marvin, Allyson Ahern and Stephanie Brown.

Girls soccer ties

By Rick Harrison

The letdown was inevitable. After bumping off two previously undefeated teams (North Andover and Billerica) in a 48-hour span, and taking over first place in the Merrimack Valley Conference, the girls varsity soccer team

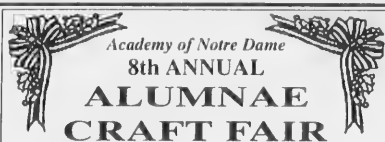

The Lady Warriors let their guard down, relaxing slightly, and paid the price as Wilmington battled the locals to a 0-0 tie.

Dick Loschi's team, which qualified for the Eastern Mass. Division I Tournament when it beat North Andover, began the week 10-1-2 clinging to a one-point lead over Billerica in their battle for the 1994 MVC championship.

Andover played at Tewksbury (3-7-1) earlier this week, hosts Methuen (2-7-2) today, and completes regular season play with games Saturday at Haverhill (2 p.m.), next Monday at Lowell and Wednesday

YOUTH SOCCER

Soccer teams play in Columbus Day tournaments

Andover Blast 0 - Andover Spurs 0

The Andover Blast under-14 girls soccer team competed in the competed in the intown Columbus Day tournament.

Blast goalies Kirsten Houghton and Kristen Munson made several saves to combine for the shutout. Blast standouts were Katherine Casey, Kathleen McCumber, Lauren Sullo and Kate Rammacher.

Andover Blast 1 - Andover Bolts 0

Katherine Casey scored the lone goal on a cross ing pass by Anna Radocchia and a deflection by Kathleen McCumber. Goalies Jennifer Johnson and Ruchi Sisodia handled all shots on goal to preserve the shutout. Blast standouts were Jessica Ellis, Phoebe Eustis, Kirsten Houghton and Anna Radocchia.

Andover Blast 0 - Andover Raiders 0

The Blast and Raiders had several opportunities, but neither team could score. Blast goalies Phoebe Eustis and Anna Radocchia made several good saves. Blast standouts were Phoebe Jessica Ellis, Catherine Filbin, Kristen Munson and Ruchi Sisodia.

Andover Blast 0 - Andover Breakers 0

The Blast had the edge, but couldn't penetrate the tough Breakers' defense. Blast goalies Kirsten Houghton and Lauren Sullo combined for the shutout. Blast standouts were Emily Cullinan, Jessica Ellis, Catherine Filbin and Kate Rammacher.

Beverly Scorpions 4 - Andover Rocks 2

The Andover Rocks competed in the Columbus Day Tournament held in Peabody. In the opening game, Beverly opened the scoring but Andover came right back on a goal from Allison Caffrey, assisted by Meri Rawlinson. Beverly scored two quick goals before Andover settled into a tight game with Meghan O'Connell, Shannon Sweeney, Liz Little and Rachel Koffman controlling the middle. Solid defense was supplied by Kate Kramer and Lisa Tylus in the second half. The midfield was closed by Alice Gregory, Joie Sawyer, Liz Sullivan and Kate Lombard. Diane Liu, Jessica Urbellis and Allison Dexter provided the momentum for the offense before Kate Lombard closed the scoring on a fee from Urbellis. Kate Hyde was in goal.

Andover Rocks 7 - Peabody Hot Shots 0

Andover Rocks dominated Peabody. Allison Caffrey opened the scoring on a feed from Meri Rawlinson. She scored again minutes later and completed her hat trick with a third goal. Rawlinson assisted on all three goals. Rachel Koffman, Lisa Tylus, Meghan O'Connell and Allison Dexter kept Peabody out of the Andover end and Alice Gregory, Shannon Sweeney and Diane Liu locked up the middle of the field. Shannon Sweeney, Brittany Lonero and Liz Little dominated the middle of the field in the second half and Jessica Urbellis, Liz Sullivan, Caffrey and Joie Sawyer shut down Peabody. Dexter, Kate Kramer, O'Connell and Kate Lombard scored. Sawyer and Kate Hyde combined for the shutout.

Andover Rocks 3 - Danvers Northstars 2

Kate Kramer, assisted by Allison Caffrey, scored the Rocks' first goal. Alice Gregory, Diane Liu and Kate Lombard all took shots on the Danvers net, but the Danvers defense scrambled to take the goals away. Allison Dexter, Rachel Koffman, Lisa Tylus and Meghan O'Connell provided good defense while Shannon Sweeney, Liz Little and Jessica Urbellis worked the middle of the field. O'Connell knocked an airborne pass down from Kate Kramer in the Danvers net in the second half. Jessica Urbellis, Liz Sullivan, Allison Caffrey and Joie Sawyer continually fought of the Danvers' offense. Kate Hyde made key stops in net and with under a minute to play, Liu took a back pass from O'Connell and lofted it over the goalie's head to give the Rocks the win.

Andover Eagles 6 - Nashua Cobras 0

The Andover Eagles, an Under-12 Division soccer team, won the Peabody Columbus Weekend Tournament.

Eagles' goals were scored by Brian Gorrie, on a cross pass from Nick Brown; Dan Cote, on a pass from mid field; Chris Callison, on a goalie rebound; Spencer Washburn; Andy Chiaraluce; and Brown.

Andover Eagles 8 - Danvers Demolition 1

Goals were scored by Andy Chiaraluce (two), Jonathan Konioian, Dan Cote (four) and Greg Mongeau. Mike Weisner and Michael Carey played well in midfield. The forward lines of Michael Hass, Shawn Furey and Chris Callison provided constant pressure. Oliver Gregory, Matthew Monteiro and Mark Murphy led the defense and Michael Anderson played well in goal.

Andover Eagles 1 - Beverly Express 0

Michael Anderson played an outstanding game in goal and was tested throughout the game. The defensive team of Mark Murphy, Dan Cote, Matt Monteiro and Oliver Gregory with stood all attacks on goal. The midfield play of Michael Weisner, Andy Chiaraluce, Michael Corev, Nick Brown and Greg Mongeau started the offense and helped the defense throughout the game. The forward lines of Brian Gorrie, Chris Callison, Shawn Furey, Michael Hass, Spencer Washburn and Jonathan Konioian led the attacks on goal. The score was tied at 0-0 until Dan Cote shot the ball through the hands of the Beverly goalie.

Andover Eagles 3 - Attleboro Blue Machine 2

Attleboro scored first and led 1-0 at halftime. The Eagles then scored with goals by Dan Cote, from a Spencer Washburn pass; Chris Callison, from a forward pass-through by Cote to Shawn Furey to Callison; and Brian Gorrie, off a goalie rebound. Goalkeeping by Mike Anderson and a tough defensive line of Oliver Gregory, Matt Monteiro, Mark Murphy and Andy Chiaraluce held off a massive attack in the closing minute of the game to keep Attleboro to two goals and make the Andover Eagles winners of the Peabody tournament.

Lasers 1 - North Andover Red Rocks 1

The Lasers opened the tournament against the host town Red Rocks. Kevin Hess converted a Mike Kaczynski indirect kick midway through the first half to take the lead. North Andover scored later to tie. Hallbacks Brendan Pytko, Paul Davison, Josh Gagnon, Ryan Nelson and Jon Lakow pushed hard in midfield but the Lasers were unable to score.

Winchester 1 - Lasers 0

The Laser's offense dominated the game with the ball spending three quarters of the time in the Winchester end. The defense, led by Alan Ginsberg, Steven Liu, Charlie Gregory, Sam Morrison and Ryan Slavin were forced to shut down several Winchester break aways. Keeper Chris Morrissey made key saves to keep the Lasers close.

Lasers 3 - York Harbor, Maine 1

The Lasers' offense had strong hustle from Justin Pytko and Kyle Thompson. Naveen Goela opened the scoring when he beat a defender and the goalie to the corner of the net. Josh Gagnon logged the assist based on an extraordinary effort to dig the ball out at mid field and the through ball that sprung Goela. Kevin Hess scored next after some scrappy play in front of the net. He was assisted by Dan Coleman. Goela closed the scoring for the Lasers as he sent a rope into the back of the net from 20 yards out on the right wing.

Andover Blaze 6 - Beverly 0

Andover Blaze won the Under-12 Girls trophy in tournament play at North Andover. At 18 minutes, Witman drove a hard shot that forced the defender clear into her own goal. Taylor Traub finished off of Lisa Tisbert's pass two minutes later. Kaitlyn Sarantos scored two, the first set up by Jen Annesse and the second on a headed ball to herself and an unstoppable shot. Traub collected her second goal of a nically crossed ball from Bridget Gomes. Witman closed the scoring by knocking in the rebound from Kerryn O'Connor's hard shot.

Andover Blaze 4 - Needham 0

Blaze took a 3-0 lead in the first half on goals from Tisbert, assisted by Jen Busby; Traub on a rebound off an Annesse shot; and Kerry Nugent from Tisbert. Nugent scored after a set-up by Busby.

Andover Blaze 1 - Winchester 0

Kaitlin Hill had the Winchester prime striker marked out of touch. Blaze's goal came off a transition attack back from a Winchester break-out. Witman drove left side and toward the post and dropped the ball to Tisbert at the 18.

Andover Blaze 1 - Salem 0

Salem gave tough defense in the semifinal match. Amy Herlihy fed a deep ball to Witman at two minutes of the second half. Her centering ball to Traub was "dropped" to Annesse for the shot and score. Midway through the period, Salem's attack broke behind the defense. Robin Young filled in goal and cleared a ball destined for the net.

Andover Blaze 3 - Berkshire 1

The championship match was played against a strong Berkshire team. Witman tucked in Tisbert's corner kick at four minutes. In the closing minutes of the half, Nugent scored from Annesse and Tisbert scored from Busby. Berkshire came on strong after the halftime break and Blaze packed in the defense and tried to counter attack. Keeper Kerri Axelrod was forced to step up big. Berkshire's goal came at 24 minutes when a hard shot came from a halfback. Axelrod jumped to deflect ball over the bar, but it just caught the upper far corner.

All 17 players played solid tournament ball. The defense was anchored by Alison Pennelli, Stephanie Pierce, Janice Chu, O'Connor, Young on the outside and Diana Petersen and Hill in the middle.

home against Chelmsford. Scoring leaders

Jenn Munroe topped the AHS scoring parade after 13 games with eight goals and eight assists, followed by Vanessa Blank with seven goals and four assists. Randi Spiegel also has seven goals and Jen Murnane six for the Lady Warriors, who were tied with Billerica (55 goals each) as the top offensive teams in the conference.

Andover 0 Wilmington 0

The locals were shut out for the first time this season by a team they beat 4-1 the first time around.

"Take nothing away from Wilmington's keeper (Mary Armata)," said Coach Loschi. "But we couldn't put the ball in the Pacific that day. We had a definite territorial edge but only a couple of our shots were testers."

"Of course, playing Andover is now the biggest game of the year for the other league teams. If they beat us it makes their season."

Andover finished with a wide 25-7 shooting advantage, and Meghan Lynch chalked up her second solo shutout and the team's sixth. Coach Loschi cited the strong play of Vanessa Blank, Jen Murnane and defender Nicole Brooks.

Winchester 2
Andover 1
The Lady Warriors, who always schedule the very best non-league opponents available, gave the visiting Satchems all they could handle before a slightly tainted game-winning goal enabled Winchester to escape Lovely Field with the two points.

"I have no qualms about what happened," said Coach Loschi. "I make no bones about the fact Winchester had a territorial edge in the long run, especially in the second half. But with a little more concentration we could have had the tie."

Julie Russo drew first blood for Winchester at 8:38 of the opening half, but AHS forward Noelle Blank tied it 1-1 with her fourth goal at 27:02. Junior midfielder Liz Salvia notched the assist, as a corner kick bounced to Salvia for a crossing pass out front. Blank controlled the ball and pounded a 10-yard shot to the far corner. Molly Nolan netted the game winner to break the tie at 22:36 of the second half.

"We had a couple shots that went just wide in the second half," said Coach Loschi, who has 133 career victories and one state co-championship to his credit.

Meghan Lynch finished with 15 saves in the Andover net. Satchems' keeper Maggie Meagher had five stops, and solid performances were given by midfielder Vanessa Blank and forward Jessica Smith.

Andover 8 Dracut 0

The Lady Warriors simply overpowered winless Dracut (0-11-0) for the second time this season. Andover outscored the Middies 18-1 in their two games this fall.

Leading the attack with two goals each were midfielder Liz Salvia and junior forward Randi Spiegel. Contributing one goal apiece to the onslaught were forward Shannon Lee, forward Jenn Munroe, forward Jen Murnane and forward Missy Famiglietti.

Senior defender Lauren Orla set up two goals, and passing out one assist each were defender Susan Ashlock, midfielder Jen Griffin, forwards Noelle Blank and Jessica Smith. Murnane and Munroe

Andover 3 Chelmsford 1

The locals slipped past stubborn Chelmsford (4-4-2), the league's third best defensive team also fighting Wilmington for third place in the standings. Junior goal keeper Meghan Lynch went the distance and made three saves.

First-half goals by Jenn Munroe, from Liz Salvia at 13:44, and Jen Murnane, from Carolyn Vallee at 23:02, were sandwiched around a Chelmsford tally. Randi Spiegel provided the insurance just 2:30 into the second half, and the defense did the rest led by Susan Ashlock, Sue Cookson and Jen Griffin.

Boys soccer wins

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' soccer team clinched a berth in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament, and solidified its hold on second place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference, with two re-sounding victories and a tie last week.

Coach Dave Amundsen's crew, two 1-0 losses from being undefeated, stretched its unbeaten streak through 11 games (7-0-4) with a 5-1 victory over Methuen, 2-2 tie with division leader Chelmsford, and a 6-1 romp over MVC Small School frontrunner Wilmington.

The Golden Warriors, improving to 7-2-4 overall, have accumulated the necessary 50 percent of their possible points to qualify for tourney play. AHS plays 18 games, good for 36 points, and the seven wins and four ties give them the required 18 points.

Andover was scheduled to host another sizzling team, Central Catholic (5-1-1 last seven games), and travel to Haverhill earlier this week. Saturday morning Dracut comes to town (10 a.m.), and the regular season concludes next week with a Tuesday night home game versus Tewksbury (7 p.m.) and Thursday tilt at Lowell.

Andover 6 Wilmington 1

The Wildcats had lost just one game (1-1 record) prior to this blowout. The first time the two teams met ended in a 2-2 tie.

"We finally played the way we should have against the good teams all season," said Coach Amundsen. "The set-up people were looking to get the ball to the shooter in the best possible spot."

DEGREES OF SEVERITY

Most car owners are likely to assume that the service recommendations found in their car owners' manuals are intended for people other than themselves. Now, however, thanks to the American Petroleum Institute, there are service factors that place greater than average demands upon engines and a/c. Such severe service operations include: frequent trips at less than 20 miles; driving in dust, sand, excessive engine warm-up due to cold weather; extensive idling; pulling trailers; and/or operating in an otherwise heavy duty manner including driving at excessive highway speeds in hot weather, sustained high speeds, driving in high humidity, at mountainous areas. If any of these conditions are met, severe service recommendations apply.

It's important to keep your vehicle on a regular service program, and if you have any questions about setting up one, please contact the service department here at NASSAR FORD. We will be happy to discuss a service program customized to your driving needs and conditions. We also have a wide variety of new and used cars and trucks in stock. Check out this newspaper on a regular basis for our super price specials, or please come visit us 320 S. Broadway in Lawrence (508-688-6904). Our service department is open Monday through Friday from 7:00 AM to 5:30 PM. October is Auto Battery Safety Month.

HINT: The most important recommendation for severe service is to change the engine oil more frequently (according to the severe service schedule.)

American Gutter Cleaning Company

American Gutter Cleaning Co. is the kind of family owned business that applies the same high standards to their business as they do to their personal lives. Joe Rocha established the company over ten years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company along with their highly trained, reliable and fully insured staff. The business has grown rapidly due to referrals by satisfied customers.

It's important to have gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England winter arrives. Fallen leaves in the gutter freeze and cause snow and ice buildup which creates interior water damage. In the spring seedlings clog corners of gutters causing overflow.

American Gutter Cleaning Co.'s service is prompt and their prices are reasonable. An average style house, with aluminum gutters, is $35 to $75 for cleaning and flushing gutters and downspouts. They arrive fully equipped with all that is needed to clean the gutters. The debris is put in plastic bags for the convenience of the customer's disposal. They are noted for their clean work habits. They are fully insured and offer free estimates. Other services available are gutter screening, wood gutters oiled, and chimney caps. They service homes from New Hampshire to Cape Cod.

American Gutter Cleaning Co. has expanded their service to include gutter installation. This will eliminate wet basements, protect landscaping and be courteous to guests by protecting the entrance way.

To make an appointment for cleaning or an estimate, call American Gutter Cleaning Co. at (508)851-6045 or 1-800-322-1902.

AHS varsity sports roundup scored his third hat trick of the season, while Shawn Rodriguez added two goals and John Kulp had the opener at 13:52 of the first half. Mike Maguire and Ryan Hadley passed out two assists each, while Tim Smith and Sean Croteau contributed one set-up apiece. The Golden Warriors raced to a 3-0 lead on goals by Kulp, Rodriguez (23:43) and Dubasak (33:03), before the Wildcats spoiled the shutout bid with 2:50 left in the first half.

Dubasak kicked two goals 15 minutes apart around Rodriguez's second of the game in the final half. Cited for strong play were Andover defenders John Hess and Matt Perrault, junior midfielder Brian Kwon and forward Ramon Gonzalez.

Andover 2
Chelmsford 2
The Golden Warriors almost handed the league's lone undefeated team (9-0-1), and the top defensive club with only six goals allowed through 13 games, its first loss. Eric Dubasak and John Kulp, assisted by Chang Hyun and Matt Ely respectively, gave Andover a 2-0 lead in the first 30 minutes. But Chelmsford got one back late in the first half, and tied the game three minutes into the second half, to preserve its record.

T. D. Waffle

Breakfast is served all day at T. D. Waffle, in addition to lunch and dinner. An extensive menu is offered, with daily specials throughout the week. All orders are made with the freshest ingredients. Owners Dave Donovan and Tom Seto offer a comfortable, casual atmosphere with courteous, friendly service.

T. D. Waffle's reputation has spread far and wide in the two years they have been in business. Glowing articles have appeared in the Boston Globe, Lowell Sun and on radio, praising this individually owned family restaurant.

The breakfast menu includes waffles, any style eggs, corn beef hash with eggs, omelettes, morning sandwiches, pancakes, French toast with various toppings and side orders. A favorite is "Tewksbury Redman," consisting of three eggs, sirloin tips and waffle.

In addition to the regular menu items, several lunch and dinner specials are offered daily. Dinners at T. D. Waffle are reminiscent of what mother used to make. Items include fresh turkey dinner, roast beef, ham and mashed potatoes, liver and onions, hot open faced sandwiches and meat loaf. Only real mashed potatoes are served. Corned beef and cabbage is served every Monday, pot roast on Thursdays and Saturdays and clam chowder, baked haddock and fish and chips every Friday. A list of tempting desserts will top off the meal.

A special children's menu offers their favorites. There is a senior citizen's discount. All items on the menu are available for takeout. The full menu is served all day. This is truly a family restaurant with something for the whole family at reasonable prices.

T. D. Waffle is conveniently located at 283 Old Main Street, Tewksbury (off Route 495 on Route 38 East. Hours are Sunday through Thursday 5:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday 5:30 to 10 p.m. Adequate parking is available in their lot. Telephone: (508) 640-9610 or 640-0159.

Owner Michelle Whitley

A-1 Whitley's Pet Grooming

At A-1 Whitley's Pet Grooming owner Michelle Whitley affords special care, adequate time and individual attention to each customer. Regular professional grooming aids your pet's good health. It is important that your pet be maintained during the winter months. Foot care will protect it from snow, ice and irritating road salt accumulation. Different trims and grooming needs are required for each breed.

Dog grooming services available include bathing, trims and stripping. With any of these services 15 minutes of bathing, combing, nail, ears, and glands is included. The normal cost for trims of Irish, English, Springer and Cocker spaniels or small Terriers is $26.

Cat bathing for short to medium hair pets is $25. This service also includes 15 minutes of bathing, combing, nails, ears, and glands.

Additional services are hot oil treatments, medicated baths, flea baths and de-matting. Michelle will advise customers on how to brush animals to maintain their coat between visits. Walk-ins are accommodated if time is available. Pickup and delivery service is offered.

When your pet is ready to leave A-1 Whitley's Pet Grooming, it will greet its owner freshly perfumed, wearing a bow and feeling pampered.

A-1 Whitley's Pet Grooming is located at 57 B Water Street (behind Jeronimo), North Andover. Telephone: (508) 686-6505. Usual hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, although Michelle is flexible and will accommodate customers in the evening.

MORTGAGEE'S NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Premises: 8 Crescent Drive, Unit 8 Andover Gardens Condominium Andover, Massachusetts

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Darlene T. Stoll to Old Stone Mortgage Corporation dated August 14, 1987 and recorded with Essex County (Northern District) Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 43785, on Certificate of Title No. U-252, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 1:00 P.M. on the 14th day of November, 1994 A.D. at or upon the mortgaged premises, 8 Crescent Drive, Unit 8, Andover Gardens Condominium, Andover, Massachusetts, as described below, being all and singular the premises described in said mortgage,

To wit:

Unit No. 8 at 8 Crescent Drive (the "Unit"), a unit in the condominium at 6 through 12 Crescent Drive, inclusive, 9 through 12 Longwood Drive, inclusive, and 14 Longwood Drive, Andover Essex County Massachusetts, known as Andover Gardens Condominium, created pursuant to and subject to the provisions of Chapter 183A of the General Laws of Massachusetts, by Master Deed, dated May 14, 1980, and filed with Essex North Registry District of the Land Court on May 15, 1980 as Document No. 30023 (hereinafter referred to as "Master Deed")

The post office address of the Unit is
8 Crescent Drive
Andover, Massachusetts 01810

Said Unit is conveyed together with

1. An undivided 0.75419% interest appertaining to said Unit in the common areas and facilities of said Condominium.
2. The exclusive right and easement to use parking space no. (s) 8C8, as shown on the plan entitled "Site Plan Andover Gardens Condominium Andover Massachusetts" by Bradford Saivetz & Associates, Inc. dated March 26, 1980 consisting of twelve (12) sheets (hereinafter referred to as the "Plans")

Said unit is intended to be used solely for residential dwelling purposes, as set forth in Section 8 of said Master Deed, and is subject to the restrictions as set forth in Section 9 of said Master Deed.

TERMS OF SALE: Said premises will be sold and conveyed subject to all outstanding municipal or other public taxes, tax titles, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, rights of tenants and parties in possession, and existing encumbrances of record, if any, which take precedence over the said mortgage above described.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS AND NO/100 ($5,000.00) must be paid by certified, bank, treasurer's or cashier's check at the time and place of the sale by the purchaser as a deposit. The balance of the purchase price is to be paid in cash, or by certified check, bank cashier's check or bank treasurer's check within 30 days thereafter at the Law Offices of Shapiro & Kreisman, 492 Old Connecticut Path, Framingham, MA 01701 (508) 872-0221. The description for the premises contained in said mortgage shall control in the event of a typographical error in this publication.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

MORTGAGEE'S NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Premises: 8 Crescent Drive, Unit 8
Andover Gardens Condominium
Andover, Massachusetts

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Darlene T. Stoll to Old Stone Mortgage Corporation dated August 14, 1987 and recorded with Essex County (Northern District) Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 43785, on Certificate of Title No. U-252, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at 1:00 P.M. on the 14th day of November, 1994 A.D. at or upon the mortgaged premises, 8 Crescent Drive, Unit 8, Andover Gardens Condominium, Andover, Massachusetts, as described below, being all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit:

Unit No. 8 at 8 Crescent Drive (the "Unit"), a unit in the condominium at 8 through 12 Crescent Drive, inclusive, 9 through 12 Longwood Drive, inclusive, and 14 Longwood Drive, Andover Essex County Massachusetts, known as Andover Gardens Condominium, created pursuant to and subject to the provisions of Chapter 183A of the General Laws of Massachusetts, by Master Deed, dated May 14, 1980, and filed with Essex North Registry District of the Land Court on May 15, 1980 as Document No. 30023 (hereinafter referred to as "Master Deed").

The post office address of the Unit is
8 Crescent Drive
Andover, Massachusetts 01810

Said Unit is conveyed together with:

1. An undivided 0.75419% interest appertaining to said Unit in the common areas and facilities of said Condominium;
2. The exclusive right and easement to use parking space no. (s) 8C8, as shown on the plan entitled "Site Plan Andover Gardens Condominium Andover Massachusetts" by Bradford Saivetz & Associates, Inc. dated March 26, 1980 consisting of twelve (12) sheets (hereinafter referred to as "Plans").

Said unit is intended to be used solely for residential dwelling purposes, as set forth in Section 8 of said Master Deed, and is subject to the restrictions as set forth in Section 9 of said Master Deed.

TERMS OF SALE: Said premises will be sold and conveyed subject to all outstanding municipal or other public taxes, tax titles, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, rights of tenants and parties in possession, and existing encumbrances of record, if any, which take precedence over the said mortgage above described.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS and NO/00 ($5,000.00) must be paid by certified, bank, treasurer's or cashier's check at the time and place of the sale by the purchaser as a deposit. The balance of the purchase price is to be paid in cash, or by certified check, bank cashier's check or bank treasurer's check within 30 days thereafter at the Law Offices of Shapiro & Kreisman, 492 Old Connecticut Path, Framingham, MA 01701 (508) 872-0221. The description for the premises contained in said mortgage shall control in the event of a typographical error in this publication.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

HELP WANTEDTEMPORARY POSITIONS

The Town of Andover and the Andover Public Schools are seeking applications for substitutes in the following positions. Substitute personnel fill in for staff out on a prolonged leave of absence or assist at times of unusually demanding work loads. Although the length of the assignment may vary from department to department, substitute personnel are generally called in for a period of at least one week, and some assignments may last for several weeks, depending on the circumstances. Hourly rates vary, depending on the position, but generally range from $7.50-$10.00 per hour. Per the brief descriptions below, please indicate the position(s) for which you are interested in applying.

SUB. SCHOOL CUSTODIAN: Work requires the ability to provide general janitorial services. Sub. Custodians work under the general direction of a regular custodian and may be called upon to work day or evening shifts. Applicants should be able to perform routine cleaning and maintenance duties.

SUB. SECRETARY: Work requires the ability to handle general clerical duties. Applicants should be able to type and handle routing secretarial duties. Word processing experience highly desirable. All assignments are during normal working hours.

SUB. RECEPTIONIST: Work requires the ability to handle a busy switchboard. Applicants should have excellent customer service skills. Again, all assignments are during regular working hours.

SUB. INSTRUCTIONAL ASSISTANT: Work requires the ability to work with children at all grade levels under the direction of a classroom teacher. Will assist teacher in the delivery of specific lesson plans. Applicants for this position should have some advanced academic training in education and/or experience working with children in an academic or recreational setting. Instructional Assistants able to work with special needs students highly desirable. Assignments during regular school day.

SUB. DISPATCHER: Work requires the ability to handle the public safety protocols when answering calls from the public for police or fire department assistance. Prior experience as a dispatcher highly desirable; some familiarity with public safety responsibilities helpful. Assignments may be for the day, evening, or early morning shifts.

To apply for any of the above substitute positions, please send resume to the Personnel Office c/o Andover Town Offices, 36 Bartlett Street, Andover, MA 01810 or call for an application at 470-3800 extension 408 Monday-Friday, 9:00 A.M. to 11:00 A.M.

TOWN OF ANDOVER LEAF COMPOSTING NOTICE

The Town of Andover leaf compost site at Bald Hill on High Plain Road will open for Andover residents only, on Thursday, October 20, 1994. Residents may drive in to drop off leaves, grass clippings, and shredded yard waste between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays from October 20 thru December 3, weather permitting. Residents must remove their leaves, grass clippings, and shredded yard waste from whatever container they use to deliver them in. All contaminated loads will be rejected. The area is available for walk-ins at all times, however there are substantial fines for ILLEGAL dumping.

Directions to Bald Hill: Take Lowell St. (Rt. 133) to Greenwood Road (the traffic light just east of the IRS). Take Greenwood Rd. (0.8 miles) north to High Plain Rd. and then take High Plain Rd. (1.0 miles) west to Bald Hill.

The Town of Andover will be conducting curbside leaf collection during the weeks of 10/31-11/4, 11/7-11/12, 11/14-11/18, and 11/28-12/2. Residents are to put their leaves out on their designated trash collection day. Any appropriate size containers may be used for leaves, but if using plastic bags they MUST BE CLEAR PLASTIC BAGS.

WHEN THE COMPANY KEN RAPP WORKED FOR DOWNSIZED, WE GAVE HIM AN OPPORTUNITY THAT WAS RIGHT ON THE MONEY.

A former international banker, Ken Rapp got his real estate license in order to sell his own house — and "took to it immediately." He's been reaping dividends as a CENTURY 21® sales associate ever since. Last year alone, Ken sold over 350 units. And if there's a limit, he can't see it. Ken credits the training and support of the CENTURY 21 System — the best in the business — with much of his success. "In my heart," he confesses, "I know I wouldn't be doing this well without the CENTURY 21 connection." Ken's just one of hundreds of professionals who've successfully made the leap into real estate with the help of the CENTURY 21 System. Call today and ask for a free career consultation.

Joe Sweeney

traveled more than 200,000 miles, but is filled with all the tools needed for instruction. His engine runs on a different kind of fuel.

"He's kind of like a college kid," said Peg Campbell, co-coordinator of the Department of Community Services, who hired Mr. Sweeney to teach tennis classes. "I cracked up this year because he had a surfboard on top of this (van, the other vehicle he owns). It looked like something from a Walt Disney movie."

Mr. Sweeney's van is not only recognizable, but is highly functional. It has been fitted with a refrigerator and sleeping compartment so that Mr. Sweeney, a ski nut, can camp out at the foot of a mountain and wait for the trails to open, said Elizabeth "Dot" Fienemann, a student and old friend in his DCS tennis class.

Mr. Sweeney said he helped start the Andover High Ski Club in 1970.

Jim Hurley, the schools athletic director, said Mr. Sweeney was an original coach in the Andover Junior Football League and "was instrumental in getting that league off and getting it started."

Despite these other interests, Mr. Sweeney's greatest love appears to be tennis. He was a charter member of the Andover Tennis Club and said he wants to start a new organization to look after the town's courts and to help players find partners. When the weather improves next year, he hopes like to create a Greater Lawrence tennis tournament.

As a DCS instructor, Mr. Sweeney has given far more than required.

"You're supposed to meet twice a week for one hour each session and he offers four times a week for two hours each session. Plus Saturdays," said Nancy Hogan, a Harper Circle resident and student in his class.

"They learn more that way and it's more fun," said Mr. Sweeney. "On odd days usually most of them show up. During the summer they'd be down regular as clock work."

Mr. Sweeney owns his own ball machine and video equipment and uses both to correct flaws in his students' strokes.

He said showing students how silly they appear on film "is always good for a laugh," and "then they start to get corrected when they see how they look."

While he has worked with college- and high-school teams during the last few decades, Mr. Sweeney said he has instructed individual tennis players for 52 years.

"When I get somebody doing things right, then I really get a kick out of it. I've met a lot of people and I've enjoyed them," he said.

He has also coached swimming and diving teams, and is the current swimming and diving coach at Tingsboro's Notre Dame Academy. For the first time, he is teaching someone, his assistant coach and former pupil, Kristin Westing, about coaching.

"She's learning a lot that she didn't know. She's coming along," he said. "I'm hoping she'll pick it up. As soon as I get out of there she may take it over, so why not?"

Joe Sweeney uses the correct back-scratching stroke to hit an overhead.

Mr. Sweeney said that teaching what he has learned is one way to give something back.

Ms. Hogan said that although she didn't know whether the DCS tennis class would be right for her, after talking with Mr. Sweeney she felt comfortable.

"Over the phone I could tell his out look on life, his sense of humor, just his enthusiasm," said Ms. Hogan. "You felt that it was going to be individualized attention when you got there. And it is."

"The main item that caught me is his age and enthusiasm. He said he really wants to pass on what he knows to others so they'll enjoy tennis as much as he does," she said. "The whole element - if you get down there to see what's going on - it's just amazing."

Mr. Sweeney seems commonly to amaze others. However, he was quite surprised himself recently by Dot Fienemann, a student in his DCS class. Ms. Fienemann, of Canterbury Street, lived in the same South Lawrence neighborhood as Mr. Sweeney when she was still a teen-ager. When she told him who she was at a recent lesson. "Well, his jaw dropped," she said.

The two had not seen each other since a chance meeting in the mid 1940s when Ms. Fienemann was a piano player at the well-respected Blin-strub's Village night club in Boston.

Ms. Fienemann said that when she lived in South Lawrence, Mr. Sweeney was the only friend she knew who had a job. Even then he had a beat-up old car, a Ford.

Often, they would swim with their friends in the early morning sunlight in Welch's Pond, now known as Forest Lake, before other people would arrive.

"It might not sound like much. But this was 1939. It was the middle of the Depression. There weren't many bright spots in your day. Joe was one of them," she said. "He was a sweet heart."

Jaffarian Volvo-Toyota puts the customer first

Volvo, Toyota, customer satisfaction, Merrimack Valley and competitive pricing don't seem to make any sense unless you have been to Jaffarian Volvo-Toyota in Haverhill.

For nearly a half-century Jaffarian has sold and serviced new and pre-owned Volvos and Toyotas at the best prices to many people in the Merrimack Valley while maintaining the highest degree of customer satisfaction.

As the years have passed each generation of Jaffarian has dealt with a busier and more complex auto industry.

"Times have changed dramatically, but the loyalty to our products and to our customers haven't," said Gary Jaffarian. "We concentrate on the small details, which people have always liked."

As Jaffarian has grown in volume, it hasn't lost the fine art of "personal touch" with its customer base.

"We know our customers by name, not numbers," continued Mr. Jaffarian.

Excitement and technology have kept both Volvo and Toyota on top of their game, not only in the past, but more so now as a whole fleet of new and different products have been introduced.

Models for 1995 feature the sport sedan Volvo 850, which features front-wheel drive and comes in both a turbo model and as a wagon. The success of the 850 Volvo is well known. This year the Volvo 850 is available with front and side air bags.

For Toyota, 1995 brings in a completely new flagship to the Toyota fleet - The Avalon, a full-size luxury Toyota to replace the Cressida.

Jaffarian has the area's lowest new car prices consistently outdoing its competition - mainly because of its depth and experience, a low overhead and repeat business that's the envy of any car dealership.

Sixty-three percent of Jaffarian customers have either purchased their previous vehicle from Jaffarian in the past or have been referred to the dealership by some other customer.

In November, Jaffarian Volvo-Toyota will attempt to set yet another sales record. With only two months remaining in this year, Jaffarian's sale goal is in sight and the pencil will be razor sharp.

"We're going to be slashing all our prices on new and used Volvos and Toyotas to reach our goal," said Mr. Jaffarian. "I urge anyone interested in buying a Toyota or Volvo to come see us for the best price during our end-of-the-year sale."

Receive top of the line parts and service at Crafts Automotive

As the engineering that goes into new automobiles becomes more and more advanced, service departments everywhere have been forced to update equipment and keep current with the industry trends and changes.

For Dan Crafts' CARS (Crafts Automotive Repair Services) shop, this has been no problem. "This location represents the futuristic end of the automotive repair business," he said. "This is not your basic garage shop".

One look around the site on Raymond Avenue in Salem will confirm that assertion. If it's state-of-the-art and part of the auto industry, Crafts has it. The garage, in fact, looks like something out of the movies. The work area is spotless and gleaming; the diagnostic computer system is the best money can buy, and every automotive need can be met within those four walls; "There is no limit to what we can do, foreign or domestic."

The CARS shop is an automotive training center and all technicians are (ASE) certified. "I've been studying, with the GM engineering department for 12 years," said Crafts. "At least once a month we have GM engineers doing training at the site.

The pride and joy of the business is the IBM diagnostic computer which operates on the most up-to-date CD information discs available from the manufacturer. "This system can give us any engineering updates on cars from 1980 to 1994 in just seconds," explains Crafts "We have the latest information at our fingertips as well."

Crafts was involved with the construction of the shop from day one. "I designed this shop with the future in mind," said Crafts. "All environmental problems were addressed during construction. We made provisions for anti-freeze containment and bulk oil. We have no floor drains and keep everything spotless."

Everything is top-shelf at Crafts. Whether it's a simple oil change or a major service, they use only top-of-the-line products when servicing your car. They have a parts computer on site that allows them to locate available parts in seconds.

The entire operation is impressive; the technicians are courteous, professional and very knowledgeable; and the equipment is ultra-modern. This is the ultimate in one-stop, full-service auto repair shops. CARS can meet your every need with the most skilled technicians and at a reasonable price.

The future in auto repair has arrived, and it's at Crafts Automotive Repair Services, 8 Raymond Ave. in Salem. The telephone number is (603) 893-3393.

Commonwealth Motors honored as a top Honda dealership for second year

Charles Daher's Commonwealth Motors was once again ranked as one of the top 60 dealers in the country for American Honda Motor Company in regards to total customer satisfaction. Charlie Daher was presented the award for the second straight year in a row in New Orleans at Honda's new car announcement several weeks ago.

Commonwealth Motors prides itself on total customer satisfaction before and after the sale. Not only do we offer New England's largest selection of Chevrolets, Hondas, Pontiacs, Mazdas and Isuzus, we also offer New England's best possible prices and, more than that, guaranteed satisfaction before and after the sale.

Commonwealth Motors sales and leasing department is open seven days a week and the service department is open six days a week, Monday through Saturday. We offer express service, shuttle service and satisfaction guaranteed with everything we do. All these services are also available at our other locations, Commonwealth on the Lynnway, located at 730 Lynnway, Lynn, Mass. (617) 599-6100. The Lawrence location is at Exit 45, off Route 495. (508) 687-3000.

Routine maintenance is the key to better car care

Did you know ...

- Millions of car owner's manuals are printed each year — most of them remain unread.
- A survey of ASE-certified master auto technicians revealed motorists could extend the life of their vehicles by up to 50 percent through regular, routine maintenance.
- The items vehicle owners most often neglect are oil changes, engine coolant/anti-freeze, and tire pressure.
- A well maintained vehicle will get better gas mileage, save you money and help the environment.

- A fouled, misfiring spark plug can reduce fuel efficiency by as much as 30 percent.
- Everyone can get better gas mileage by making sure their tires are properly inflated, by observing speed limits, and avoiding sudden accelerations and excessive idling.
- Over 350,000 automotive technicians with national credentials — certification through the nonprofit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence — are at work in repair facilities across the country.

Foul weather tips for motorcyclists

If you ride a motorcycle remember this: decreased traction due to rain or sleet on the road, plus decreased visibility due to rain, fog, or other weather conditions means take special precautions.

These safety tips, from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, may help motorcyclists in rough weather:

Wear protective gear:

The helmet is the most important piece of protective gear and can greatly reduce the severity of injuries in a crash. Jackets and pants should be of sturdy material. Durable gloves are especially important and should be of a non-slip material such as leather for a firm grip on controls.

Dress to be seen:

Wear bright colors especially on the upper body. Wear a brightly colored helmet. If you must wear dark colors, brighten clothing and headgear with fluorescent straps or reflective tape. Always ride with headlights on. This will ensure that you are more easily seen by motorists, day or night.

The helmet is your most important piece of protective gear.

Car travel — better now than in the 'good old days'

By Arthur Frommer

Amid all the general complaints about the rising costs, harried pace and less-than-desirable service of traveling today, has any form of vacation transportation actually improved in recent years?

Vacations by car within the U.S. are better than they were 35 years ago. In a remarkable contrast to the way in which modern, mass-volume travel has often lowered standards, the classic American vacation by car — in my view — is infinitely more pleasant in the 1990s than it was "in the good old days." I can easily cite at least nine separate examples of that:

- Interstate highways.
- Begun some 35 years ago and largely completed by the late 1970s, these 42,000 miles of four-lane and six-lane roads provide us with quick, comfortable access to major holiday locations. We can reach our destinations in rapid time, and then veer off to the "scenic byways."
- Cheaper gas.
- As remarkable as it may seem, the cost of gasoline (adjusted for inflation) is less today than it was 30-or-so years ago.
- Comfortable, budget-priced motels.
- A phenomenon of the past 35 years, thousands of roadside "budget motels" supply Americans with the cheapest costs for modern, high-quality lodging in all the world.
- Fly-drive holidays.

Reasonably-priced travel packages fly the vacationer to an airport counter and a waiting car, without the fatigue and higher expense of a several-day-long car trip there.

- Safer motoring.
- The near-universal use of seat belts, the drive to raise the minimum age for drinking, the retention of 55-mile-an-hour speed limits in most states, have cut accident rates to a significant degree.
- Desegregation of vacation facilities.

The towering achievements of the Civil Rights movement of the 1960s have erased, among other things, the constant indignities to which our African-American citizens were once subjected as they traveled by car within the U.S.

- Widespread acceptance of bank credit cards.

And who could overlook the convenience brought into our lives by widely-available bank credit cards and long-distance credit-card phone privileges?

- Greater choice of in-car entertainment.
- We are no longer condemned to suffer the uneven programming of local radio stations as we drive throughout the country. We now simply slip in a cassette or CD to enjoy our favorite music or listen to the reading of a great book.
- Better roadside air.

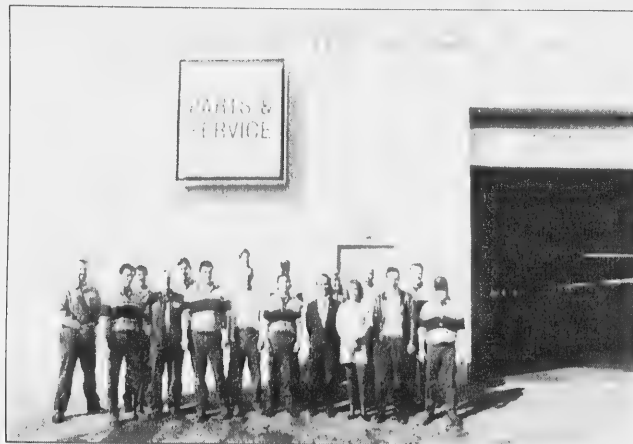

Stringent emissions controls on cars and greater regulation of our smoke-producing industries have brought a measure of relief from the worsening condition of our roadside air first noticed some 35 years ago. There is, of course, much remaining to do in this area.

In contrast with these ten advances, have we suffered any decline in the quality of our motoring vacations? We hear claims of a dulling homogeneity in highway travel, that our roads and small cities no longer harbor local dishes, accents, outlooks and distinctive architecture. What nonsense! The backroads of America haven't ceased to exist.

What we now possess, and did not have before, is a motoring choice—between speed and dawdling, between guaranteed levels of comfort and risky elements of quaintness and charm. Some opt for the one, some for the other. But all enjoy that most precious of rights: a choice. And therein lies the great triumph of American motoring over the past 35 years.

So kudos to the car. That often taken-for-granted family auto has, in my view, become the best means for a rewarding vacation.

Methuen Olds strives to surpass customer expectations

The newest Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Jeep Eagle Dealership in the Northeast is open for business. A new and improved showroom-service and parts department are waiting to serve your complete automotive needs. Come meet the people at Methuen Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Jeep Eagle, exit 47 off Route 93. Come in and experience owner John Christie's commitment to customer satisfaction in all departments of his dealership.

The service department has undergone major renovations under the guidance of service director, Bill Crone. Bill said that they changed everything from physical appearance; to having an enclosed service drive through; to the most modern and updated equipment. Their goal is to meet the customers expectation, and then exceed it. They've made every effort to accomplish that goal and always welcome comments and suggestions from their customers.

The parts department has also made many changes. The parts manager, Peter Jensen, has increased his parts inventory and is also stocking an attractive line of accessories and apparel for all their lines.

The new sales manager, Jeff Brooks, stated that no customer will leave the showroom because of price or equipment. Jeff said that he will go the extra mile to get the vehicle of choice and offer it at a reasonable price. Jeff also added that he has increased his sales staff to serve the customer more effectively.

Ten ways to cut auto insurance rates

Good news:

There are steps you can take to keep down the cost of car insurance. Experts at the AARP Auto and Homeowners Insurance Program offer these suggestions:

1. Review your own liability insurance coverage with your insurance company to make sure you aren't paying for more coverage than you need. Discuss whether you still need collision coverage (often not advised for older cars), and consider whether you could get by with higher deductibles.

2. Ask your insurance company if you can get lower insurance rates by joining a car pool or going to work via public transportation. Supporting good mass transit systems can help get other drivers off the road and so reduce accidents.

3. When shopping for a car, there are many considerations more important than style. Check auto safety ratings before making your decision.

4. The next time you buy a car, look for air bags, automatic seat belts and anti-lock brakes.

5. Make sure your auto policy doesn't duplicate medical benefits already provided under a separate health insurance plan.

6. When making a decision about which new car to buy, ask your insurance company about the cost of insuring each car you're considering. Some cars cost more than others.

7. You may qualify for insurance rate discounts if your car is equipped with alarms or other security devices. Always lock your car and pocket the key. Park only in well lit areas and don't leave valuables in sight on the seats.

8. Observe posted speed limits. Your insurance rate can be increased if you're charged with a traffic violation. Let your legislators know you're opposed to increased speed limits.

9. Don't drink and drive. Support strict drunk driving laws and their enforcement.

10. Support good no-fault laws. America's excessive lawsuits drive up the cost of insurance.

Don't drink and drive. Tests show a single drink is enough to impair driving skills.

High style, solidity mark Audi Cabriolet

Introduced in the 1994 model year, the Audi Cabriolet gained in its first year in the U.S. market a reputation for eye-catching styling, exceptional stability, and touring car driving performance.

Loaded with luxury features, the sleek Cabriolet combines a sophisticated 172-horsepower V6 engine with the convenience of a power convertible roof, and the sure-footedness of front-wheel drive.

With luxury in mind, Diana, the Princess of Wales, bought an Audi 80 convertible, and once again caused quite a stir for buying a German car.

As at ease in ski areas as the beach, the Cabriolet represents Audi's special appeal to driving enthusiasts.

With availability limited in 1994 to 1,300 cars, the Cabriolet was a sell-out success and because of strong worldwide demand for the car assembled in Ingolstadt, Germany, supply will be similarly restricted in 1995.

Power top

The Cabriolet's power convertible top is among the most attractive in the industry. And to many eyes, the Cabriolet is as handsome with its top up as when it's stowed away beneath a hard tonneau cover.

Operation is a simple 30-second maneuver. With the parking brake engaged, a turn of the windshield latching T-handle and the press of a console button will automatically lower and raise the soft top roof.

Optional heated front seats and a turbulence-blocking windscreen extend the season from spring through autumn, making topless motoring comfortable even in brisk temperatures.

Cockpit

A driver-oriented interior features firm, comfortable, leather upholstered seats. Analog gauges are easy to read, with walnut trimming on the instrument panel, door, and center console lending an ambience of luxury.

Other notable touches include a leather-wrapped steering wheel and gear selector knob, and a console switch which operates all four windows simultaneously.

Standard interior features include air conditioning, cruise control, dual power mirrors, central locking system, stereo cassette radio with four-speaker sound package, and an expandable ski/storage sack.

Body shell

"As tight as a microchip" is how one of the nation's best-known automotive journalists described the structural integrity of the Audi Cabriolet.

Even over bumpy roads, the Cabriolet is rattle-free because of its reinforced door sills, door pillars, and windshield frame.

The top fits snugly. Wind noise is minimal and with the top up, the passenger compartment is quiet.

The sport-tuned suspension is lower, giving the Cabriolet a high degree of composure even in hard turns. Front-wheel drive and the track-stabilizing front axle ensure directional control and neutral steering behavior.

Safety

The Cabriolet's superb handling characteristics allow its drivers to avoid accidents that can endanger less agile cars.

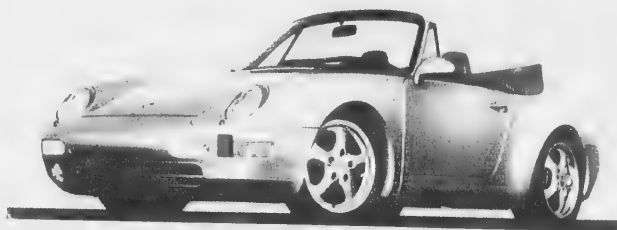

And to avoid injury should an accident occur, the Cabriolet is equipped with driver and passenger airbags and a reinforced side structure that meets U.S. Government 1997 side impact standards.

Like all Audis, the Cabriolet is designed with energy absorbing crumple zones that in collisions protect the integrity of the passenger cabin.

Audi ownership advantage

Audi provides its owners with one of the most comprehensive customer care plans in the industry including:

- Three-year/50,000 mile no charge scheduled maintenance.
- Three-year/50,000 mile limited new vehicle warranty.
- Ten-year limited warranty against corrosion perforation.
- Roadside assistance through a three-year membership in the Cross Country Motor Club, Inc.

Building crashworthiness into every car is the aim of Saturn's engineers

Safety has always been among the highest priorities at Saturn. That's why our structural engineers go to such great lengths when they design, analyze, and test our cars.

Starting in the lab

First, they make use of a Cray Research super-computer and sophisticated programs called PAM-CRASH and LS DYNA 3D to simulate accidents. On the computer screen, they can freeze these simulated crashes at any point for an exhaustive analysis of a design's effectiveness in preventing human injury.

Then they test their designs in real collisions except that in place of real passengers, they take "Hybrid III" anthropomorphic test devices (also known as crash-test dummies), put them in cars, and crash them into walls at speeds in excess of thirty miles an hour.

Sitting pretty — or not

Because we know drivers and passengers come in many different shapes and sizes, we test with a number of different-sized models in addition to the government-mandated five-foot-eight-inch, 179-pound, 50th-percentile (in other words, average) males. These range from a delicate, four-foot-eleven, 112-pound female to a burly, six-foot, 234-pound male and even a few kids and a six-month-old infant.

Then, because we've seen the way some people drive, we perform some tests with our dummies in seat positions in addition to the ones specified by the government, and some at speeds higher than those mandated — to account for a range of variations in vehicle weight, materials, and optional equipment.

Working from the inside out

All this meticulous measuring and testing exemplifies the dedication Saturn engineers demand of themselves, above and beyond what the rules may require — and their commitment to embody that effort in every car they design.

It begins with the spaceframe, also known as a "reinforced passenger cage," a sturdy structure that helps protect the car's occupants even without body-side panels. And crumple zones fore and aft are designed to help absorb the energy of front and rear impacts.

On the inside, all Saturns now have dual airbags and three-point manual seatbelts (with adjustable front shoulder guide-loops on the coupes). In addition, the instrument panel now comes with redesigned knee bolsters and a padded "brow" on the passenger's side (which also helps direct the passenger's airbag to the right place as it inflates). And under the rear seat cushions, special ramps help prevent "submarining" — the tendency of some people, particularly small ones, to slide forward and under their belts in certain kinds of impacts.

Staying out of trouble

For extra help steering clear of danger, anti-lock brakes and traction control are available on most Saturn cars. And for a little extra peace of mind, there's even a security feature to our power door locks — so when you unlock the driver's door, you won't also unlock all the others unless you intend to.

Built in safety features help protect both driver and passengers in case of sudden impact

Given his years of public safety work, Emory Griffith has seen how hundreds of cars hold up when it matters most — in accidents. And though he admits he's no biomedical or engineering expert, he's had the opportunity to see practically every kind of safety feature put to the test.

His primary observation: "It's not necessarily just the size of a vehicle that makes you safe, it's also how that vehicle is engineered.

"Take a frontal or rear-end collision, for example. If you see one vehicle that looks severely damaged in the front or the back, and another vehicle that shows less damage, you might think that the person in the second car was better off.

"But that's not necessarily the case, because those front and rear 'crumple zones' are designed to crush and help absorb the energy of a collision. So, even though the first car might look worse, you would much rather have the car absorb the impact than the occupants.

"But between those crumple zones," he continues, "you want the passenger compartment to maintain as much structural integrity as it can. And that's where the spaceframe comes in."

According to Emory, a lot of people still don't know what a spaceframe does. "Some people think that the more metal they have around them, the better off they are — some still expect to see traditional steel panels on the sides of cars," he adds. "But it's the spaceframe that creates structural integrity in a Saturn — that's what's helping to keep the other guy's bumper out of your lap. I'm glad to see autotakers designing cars this way."

In addition to crumple zones and a state-of-the-art spaceframe wrapped around him, Emory says there are a few other features he'd ask for in any car he drives — beginning with a lap/shoulder belt system and airbags.

"Most collisions involve a series of impacts," he explains. "First, your vehicle decelerates — and it should absorb the greatest amount of that energy. Second, your body decelerates as it's restrained by seatbelts and airbags inside the car. Third, your how to properly wear a seatbelt. You need both a shoulder belt and a lap belt. And the lap belt should span the strong portion of your hip — it should pass low over your hip bones, not high over your abdomen."

Not surprisingly, Emory's primary interest is in features that will help protect him in case of a sudden impact. But he also looks for features that will help him avoid such adventures.

High on his list these days are anti-lock brakes — especially now that he's attending the police academy and taking classes in high-speed maneuvering, sudden braking, and a technique called threshold braking."

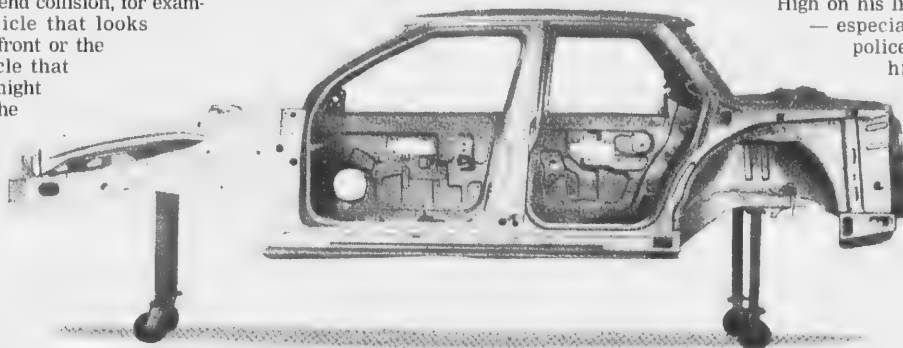

"Threshold braking means applying the maximum amount of brake pressure allowable before the point where the wheels lock up.

Because as long as your wheels are turning, you can still have some steering control over the vehicle. And that's what anti-lock brakes do for you automatically — keep your wheels from locking. 'Maintaining rolling friction' is what it's called."

Finally, to make the most of that rolling friction, Emory prefers a car with "a nice engine — something that will allow adequate acceleration" to help get him out of dicey situations.

Though he describes himself as a very defensive driver, most of Emory's driving experience lately has been in ambulances, fire trucks, and police cars — all of which are a little different from the vehicles most people maneuver.

But his perspective on consumer cars is perhaps best summed up in the letter he wrote to Saturn, describing the accident that began this story: "It is designs such as Saturn's that make my job just a bit easier."

With numerous strategically placed steel reinforcements and structural welds, Saturn's steel spaceframe is the underlying structure of the car.

internal organs feel the deceleration caused by the vehicle and the restraints.

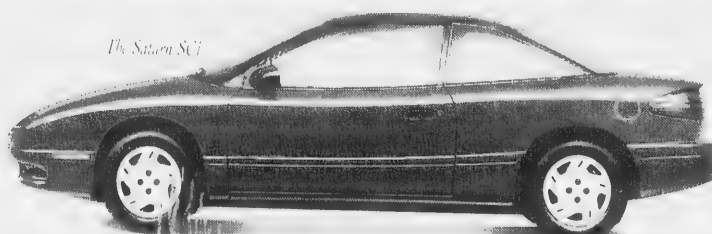

"The more deceleration that can be absorbed in the first and second impacts, the less your body will have to endure in the third."

All of which brings us to something else Emory feels pretty strongly about, something he says people sometimes miss: Airbags and seatbelts are supposed to supplement each other — not substitute for each other — so it's still vital to buckle up at all times.

"By the way," he adds, "it's important to know

Handle car coolants safely: Protect family and environment

To ensure that your automobile's engine coolant system runs efficiently and is protected from both boil over and corrosion, engine coolants — otherwise known as antifreeze — must be changed on a regular basis. While many "do it yourselfers" take on this task, few are aware of the potential hazards. Improper handling and disposal of new or used engine coolant can put people and pets at risk.

Like many household chemicals, engine coolant is poisonous when ingested. Children and household pets are especially at risk if spilled engine coolant is not cleaned up. While child-resistant closures, properly labeled containers, and consumer awareness programs have helped reduce the occurrence of accidental poisonings, ultimately user caution is the most effective means.

Glycol (ethylene or propylene), the major component of engine coolant, is readily biodegradable. However, used engine coolant may contain contaminants—lead in particular—leached from the engine coolant system during operation. These materials can put the environment at risk if used engine coolant is improperly handled or disposed.

To help consumers handle new or used engine coolant in a safe manner, The Dow Chemical Company offers these ten tips:

1. Read all usage and warning labels before using engine coolant.
2. Store new or used engine coolant in properly labeled, child proof containers, and do not transfer engine coolant into other product containers (i.e. milk jugs, soda bottles, liquor bottles, etc.).
3. Keep all containers of engine coolant out of the reach of children and pets, especially when containers are open during use.

4. When changing engine coolant, ensure that the fluid has cooled before opening the radiator and draining the coolant. Hot engine coolant can cause thermal burns.

5. Wear proper eye protection when changing the engine coolant in your vehicle. If engine coolant contacts the eyes, flush thoroughly with water for at least 15 minutes.

6. If engine coolant is accidentally swallowed, induce vomiting if the patient is alert. Call a physician or poison control center immediately.

7. Repair leaks in your radiator or engine coolant system immediately.

8. Clean up any spilled engine coolant immediately. Should spillage occur, soak it up with absorbent material and flush the contacted surface with water thoroughly. Do not dump engine coolant onto the ground, into natural waters, or into storm sewers.

9. Check the options available for the disposal of used engine coolant, as regulations may vary. Options may include recycling, or disposal by a commercial/municipal sanitary waste treatment facility or a licensed hazardous waste disposal firm. (For example, some communities hold 'Hazardous Household Waste Day' where residents can discard used engine coolant with other household chemicals.)

10. Use common sense. Treat engine coolant with the same caution you would any other household chemical.

1995 Mercedes S-Class features refined styling

New lineup also gets higher fuel efficiency

The 1995 Mercedes-Benz S-Class sedans and coupes — acclaimed as the world's best luxury cars — feature improved fuel efficiency, additional standard equipment and, in the case of the sedans, freshened styling.

Since its October '91 introduction, the fuel efficiency of the current S-Class line has been increased by over 16 percent. This year, average fuel economy has been further improved through the use of new high-strength materials and integration of electronic systems, both of which help to reduce weight. For example, the S320 — even with its new, longer wheelbase — gets 24 miles per gallon on the highway and 17 m.p.h. around town.

Mercedes-Benz — credited with the development of electronic traction control — has now made such traction systems standard on every S-Class car for '95. Electronic traction control is either standard or optional on all other Mercedes models.

The exterior changes on the '95 S-Class sedans provide a softer, lower look. A modified grill, redesigned lights with over 35 percent more light output), restyled bumpers and revised lower body panels all contribute to its new look.

At the rear, the '95 S-Class sedans incorporate a trunk lid that's more rounded at the back (similar to the coupes), plus a modified reflector strip and taillights. The limited-edition S-Class coupes maintain their distinctive appearance.

Inside, a new instrument cluster for S-Class sedans and coupes features an LCD digital odometer and trip counter, while the door panels for the sedans now include a larger storage compartment in the front doors and a new storage pocket in the rear doors. All the '95 S-Class cars come with several new convenience features specifically designed for the U.S. market: two cupholders inside both the front and rear center armrests, a remote trunk release switch on the center console and a parking brake warning buzzer.

Since the '92 model year, all Mercedes-Benz cars have come pre-wired for an integrated cellular phone (optional on most models) which included a single automatic antenna for the radio and phone. This year, for improved radio and phone reception, S-

Class vehicles have an AM antenna in the rear window and an FM antenna integrated in the rear bumper, while the automatic mast antenna is now dedicated to the cellular phone.

A new option is an integrated portable phone which docks in a special cradle/charger. Starting with the '95 cars, both the new portable (whenever it's docked) and the existing integrated phone feature, a voice-activated dialing function. Calls can be placed by either speaking the number ('dial five, seven, three'...) or a key phrase such as 'call office.'

Come test drive the Mercedes-Benz S-Class at Smith Motors, 455 River St., Haverhill.

Change driving habits and save

"A few minor changes in driving and maintenance habits will increase your gasoline mileage, help the environment, and extend the life of your vehicle," advise the experts at the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), a non-profit group that certifies the competence of automotive technicians. Among the tips from ASE:

Monitor tire pressure.

Under inflated or poorly aligned tires waste fuel—the engine has to work harder to move the vehicle. Consult your owner's manual for the recommended pressures. You need an alignment if you notice uneven tread wear or if the vehicle "pulls" to one side on a flat road.

Lighten that load.

Remove unnecessary items from the vehicle. Less weight means better mileage.

Think ahead.

Consolidate your daily errands. Some trips may be unnecessary. Also, try to travel when traffic is light so you can avoid stop-and-go conditions.

Avoid excessive idling.

Shut off the engine while waiting for friends and family. And since today's cars and trucks are designed to "warm up" fast, forget about those five-minute warm ups in the morning.

Observe speed limits.

Gas mileage decreases above 55 mph. Drive sensibly.

For better gas mileage, avoid sudden accelerations and hard braking. Anticipate traffic patterns ahead and adjust your speed gradually. Your engine and brakes should last longer, too.

Keep your engine running at its peak.

A well maintained engine operates more efficiently and, thus, gets better gas mileage. Follow the service schedules listed in the owner's manual. Replace filters and fluids as recommended; have engine performance problems (rough idling, poor acceleration, etc.) corrected at a repair facility. Given today's high-tech engines, it's wise to have this type of work done by auto technicians who are ASE certified in engine performance.

"Pay me now or pay me later." A survey of the nation's ASE-certified automotive technicians confirmed that we could extend the life of our vehicles by up to 50 percent through regular, routine maintenance as prescribed in the owner's manual.

The benefits of conservation and maintenance are twofold. In addition to saving fossil fuels, drivers can protect their automotive investment.

A checklist for choosing an automotive repair shop

As fall arrives, many motorists will be having their vehicles serviced before colder weather sets in.

Here are some tips from the non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence on finding a good repair establishment:

Start shopping for a repair facility before you need one.

Ask friends and associates for recommendations; consult local consumer organizations.

Arrange for alternate transportation so you will not feel forced to choose a shop based solely on location.

Look for a neat, well organized facility, with vehicles in the parking lot equal in value to your own and modern equipment in the service bays.

Look for a courteous staff, with a service writer willing to answer all of your questions.

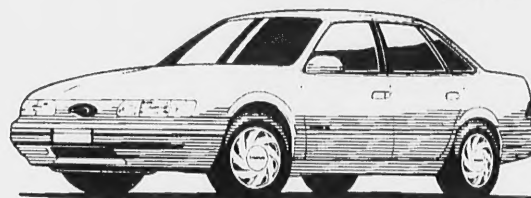

Look for policies regarding labor rates, diagnostic fees, guarantees, etc. Ask if the repair facility specializes or if it usually handles your type of repair work.

Look for signs of professionalism in the customer service area such as civic, community, or customer service awards.

Look for evidence of qualified technicians: trade school diplomas, certificates of advanced course work, and ASE-certified technicians on duty.

Andover Auto & Truck Service welcomes new customers

Andover Auto & Truck Service, located at 85 Essex Street, Andover, has been a part of Andover's community since 1982. Bob and Pat Selvittelli and their team of trained technicians take pride in the service that they give. Theirs is a family owned and operated business that has 55 years of experience in diagnosing and repairing both foreign and domestic vehicles. Andover Auto & Truck has NIASE technicians and is certified to repair and recharge all air conditioning systems according to the new EPA guidelines.

Bob and Pat welcome the chance to meet with their customers and discuss the problems that they might be experiencing with their vehicles. They try their best to give accurate, detailed descriptions of the repairs that need to be done along with an estimate of the cost of the repair. They have recently installed an 'ALLDATA' computer system that aids in the diagnosing and estimating of repairs.

Andover Auto & Truck is a full service facility. They work on domestic and foreign vehicles, from simple repairs to complete engine replacement. They are also a state inspection facility.

Now that the colder weather is approaching, it is time to think of getting your vehicle ready for New England's winter. We welcome this opportunity to meet any new members to our town. Drop by to see our facility and get to know us. Andover Auto & Truck is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and accepts MasterCard, Visa and Discover cards.

New gas gears-up performance

From Bangor to Bakersfield and Missoula to Miami, Americans love their automobiles. Unfortunately, they generally ignore the gasoline they pump into their four-wheel favorites.

Lately, however, U.S. drivers are starting to realize that the fuel they choose can play a pivotal role in keeping their engines clean, thereby slowing the normal vehicle aging process and sustaining peak performance.

A new generation of gasoline is designed to act as just such a maintenance tool. It can help restore the performance of old cars and protect the performance of new ones by preventing and reducing deposits in the engine's combustion chambers, intake valves and fuel injectors.

"Here is a breakthrough product that meets the needs of the value-conscious consumer of the '90s," says Dr. David E. Cole, director of the University of Michigan's Office for the Study of Automotive Transportation. "This fuel technology essentially slows a vehicle's aging process. It is a major step forward."

Development of the new gasoline stems from scientists researching one of the most perplexing problems posed by today's modern engine: how to keep a car engine's combustion chambers cleaner, while controlling and reducing deposits on fuel injectors and intake valves.

Tests indicate that the gasoline controls and reduces the formation of deposits in combustion chambers as well as intake valves and fuel injectors, which can contribute to better performance and mileage, while at the same time, lowering emissions. In testing, the gasoline reduced oxides of nitrogen emissions up to 22 percent over time, when compared to those of gasoline utilizing a current additive technology.

The 'New CleanSystem3' gasoline is available nationally to consumers at more than 14,000 Texaco-branded U.S. service stations. It is also available at service stations in Europe and selected markets in Latin America.

Both new and older cars can benefit from a gasoline that enhances performance and mileage.
